MacMonnies' Fine Work
We Think Too Little
Perhaps, Like Alaska
Tim Healy Is Dead

—BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

FREDERIC W. MacMONNIES has completed his bust of Whistler for the Hall of Fame, creating an admirable work that will make a visit to the Hall of Fame worth while.

With power possessed by no other sculptor since the death of St. Gaudens, Mr. MacMonnies shows, externally, as a sculptor and the internal spirit and power of the brilliant painter.

If Whistler could have seen this work of his friend MacMonnies it would have satisfied even Whistler. Thirty years younger than Whistler, MacMonnies knew him well when studying at the Beaux Arts in Paris, and later. The Hall of Fame should permit reproduction of the bust, regardless of copyright restrictions, at least for London and Paris.

Some complain that modern men do too little thinking. Perhaps there is too much to think about. The continent of Europe is said to be planning, in Rome, a boycott to shut out American wheat. You might think a long time about that and its consequences.

However, before worrying too much about European boycotts and hostility to the United States remember conditions in India.

That country is always planning something against England. But at the last moment a Hindu sees a Mohammedan, they start killing each other and forget about England.

European nations will forget about America and American boycotts on slight provocation. But they will never forget to borrow if they can.

PRESIDENT HOOVER is said to express "great hope for the future of Porto Rico, little for the Virgin Islands.

In buying those islands, according to President Hoover, "we acquired an effectual poorhouse." Apart from the standpoint of naval defense, it is "unfortunate" that the United States ever bought the islands.

We paid $25,000,000 for those islands, which isn't much money. It should not be forgotten that Seward's purchase of Alaska, for $7,200,000, was called "Seward's folly."

We have got back that amount many times in sealskins alone, many more times in gold. Nobody would suggest selling Alaska for a thousand millions or for ten thousand millions.

As for the Virgin Islands, that territory, plus intelligence, plus flying machines and submarines, would make the Panama Canal safe.

Some day some one will attend to that.

TIMOTHY HEALY is dead, only 75 years old. He was a hard fighter for Ireland in the days of oppression, and a good first governor general of the Irish Free State.

He feared nobody and said what he thought, telling a Tory major in the house of commons to his face: "The honorable and gallant gentleman is a willful and cowardly liar."

He could give his best on a minute's notice. When news came of the Mitchellstown disaster, Tim Healy and Gladstone both spoke in the early morning—Gladstone old, Healy young—and both spoke admirably. Healy made enemies for himself, friends for his cause. The spirit of Ireland mourns another old fighting son.

Baseball Loses 2 Leaders in 16 Hours

LEADER DIES

BAN JOHNSON

DEATH TAKES BAN JOHNSON, E. S. BARNARD

WERE BASEBALL ENEMIES

Johnson Ranked One of Most Notable Figures of National Game.

By The Associated Press.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 28—Ban Johnson, 67, former president of the American league, who built baseball to its commanding position as the national pastime, died at St. John's hospital here at 8:10 a. m. today from diabetes and complication.

Sixteen hours apart, death claimed two of the most powerful forces of the baseball world—Ernest S. Barnard president of the American league, and his bitter enemy, Johnson, fiery founder of the American league.

By a strange stroke of providence, their deaths ended one of the bitterest feuds ever to exist in the national pastime. Johnson was ousted from the American league.

his life dream and achievement, after his stormy quarrels with Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of organized baseball, and a stormy petrel himself, in 1927 and Barnard, then president of the Cleveland Indians, succeeded him.

Barnard Death Unexpected

The fiery Johnson, better known to baseball millions as "Fighting Ban," died after a lingering illness, which he resisted with his characteristic fighting qualities. Barnard died at 4:30 p. m. yesterday at Rochester, Minn., of a heart attack. Barnard's death was wholly unexpected but Johnson's had been expected for days. Few even knew Barnard was ill. Following his return from his usual tour of the spring baseball camps, he complained to intimate friends that he was not feeling well and that he would go to the Mayo brothers clinic at Rochester, Minn., for an examination. But neither he nor his friends took his illness seriously.

The death of Ban Johnson at times a stormy old figure of baseball, ended a six-year quest of health in which Johnson went from hospital to hospital and sanitarium to sanitarium in search of relief from his dread enemy, diabetes.

His final illness had kept him in a hospital bed here since last September, except for a few weeks in January when he apparently was on the road to recovery and was able to go to Hot Springs, Ark. There he suffered a relapse and physicians advised amputation of a leg because of infection. He returned to St. Louis. Amputation was avoided but a blood transfusion was resorted to Feb. 19.

For a day or two after the transfusion, Johnson's condition seemed improved, but both he and his physicians soon gave up hope for recovery. He was unconscious and delirious much of the time before the end.

Achievements Notable

Ban Johnson made baseball a big business. He developed it from a sandlot pastime to a game of million dollar stadia, $75,000 players and major league clubs valued at $50,000,000.

He originated the word series. He chose the presidency of the American league in 1900, at a $2,500 annual salary, in preference to a half interest in the Chicago White Sox, and he made himself a $40,000 executive by applying business methods and strict discipline

BARN BURNS NEAR MORRAL

Over Hundred Head of Livestock Destroyed; Loss To Run High.

CAUSE OF FIRE UNKNOWN

Farm Machinery, Hay and Grain Also Lost; Discovered at Midnight.

Special to The Star.

MORRAL, March 28—Damage expected to reach several thousand dollars was caused by a fire this morning which destroyed a large barn and its contents on the farm owned by William Morral, one mile east of here on the Brush Ridge road.

Forty ewes, 26 lambs, two mules, 32 pigs and a calf were included in the livestock destroyed. The loss in livestock is estimated at more than $800.

Origin of the fire is unknown. The blaze was discovered at 12:30 this morning by Silas Smith, Morral night watchman. He called the fire department but the flames had gained too much headway to save any of the contents.

A large quantity of farm machinery also was destroyed. The loss included a tractor, threshing machine, an automobile and smaller farm equipment. A considerable quantity of hay and grain was burned.

The house on the farm is occupied by Fred Fetter. Members of the family were sleeping when the flames were discovered. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

SMITH BOOSTED INTO POLITICAL LIMELIGHT

Tammany Reported Ready To Contest Power of Governor Roosevelt.

By The Associated Press

ALBANY, N. Y., March 28—The Knickerbocker-Press today said it had learned from "unimpeachable sources" that "Tammany is ready to support former Governor Alfred E. Smith for Democratic presidential nomination in 1932 and discard Governor Roosevelt.

The newspaper said this was learned after the two-day conference of former Governor Smith, John H. McCooey, Brooklyn leader; Edward J. O'Connell of Albany; Joseph Murphy of Rensselaer; John J. Curry and Mayor Burns, of Troy, at the home of Mr. Murphy.

"The combination has agreed to go to the front in defense of any investigation of the administration of Mayor James J. Walker," said the paper.

"Further, it will attempt to wrest from Governor Roosevelt his hold on the state Democratic organization and seek its absolute control."

SIX PERSONS PERISH IN WISCONSIN BLAZE

All Members of One Family Except Father Die in Flames.

By The Associated Press

MARSHFIELD, Wis., March 28—Six persons were fatally burned in a fire which destroyed three business buildings and several residences early today in the village of Loyal, about 20 miles west of here.

The dead are: Mrs. Matt Bever, 30; Mrs. Joseph Shober, 30; Robert Christensen, 10; Marie Christensen, 4; and Jane Christensen, and Mrs. Frank Christensen, mother of the three dead children.

Mrs. Christensen and her daughter, Jane, died at a hospital while the other four persons died in the flames.

With their deaths all of the Christensen family with the exception of the father, became victims of the tragedy.

MARION MAN FACES W. VA. ARSON CHARGE

George W. Ackley To Be Taken to Roane County on Indictment.

George W. Ackley, Marion real estate dealer, is being held in county jail here today for authorities of Spencer, W. Va., where he faces a grand jury indictment charging arson.

Ackley was arrested in his office at 132 East Center street yesterday afternoon by Sheriff Charles C. Fye and Deputy Millard Baldwin after the sheriff received a letter from C. O. Stahlman, state fire marshal of Charleston, W. Va.

Under Indictment

He will be returned to Spencer today by Howard Welch, special representative of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, and C. A. Roper, assistant state fire marshal of West Virginia.

Ackley, according to the fire marshal, was indicted by a Roane county grand jury recently following a state investigation of a fire which destroyed the vacant Spencer hotel. Ackley, according to information received from the West Virginia fire marshal's office, held title to the hotel at the time.

The fire, the report said, started a 4:20 on the morning of Oct. 20, 1930. It caused a loss estimated at $15,000 which was partially covered by $12,000 in insurance.

Ackley has been questioned several times by representatives of the fire marshal's office. What took place during the questioning could not be learned.

When told of the statements given out by the fire marshal, Ackley this afternoon said he was in Marion the night of the fire. He said that repairs were being made to the hotel at the time. Ackley was in Spencer a few days before the fire and returned as soon as he was notified of the blaze.

When questioned this morning at the county jail, the local real estate man said he could see no reason why he should be wanted in connection with the fire. He said he figured that he was being taken there as a witness. No other persons were indicted.

Ackley told Sheriff Fye yesterday after being arrested that he was "framed." He denied any knowledge of the fire.

The Marion real estate man has waived extradition and will be returned to West Virginia as soon as the authorities arrive.

A letter from the state fire marshal received by Sheriff Fye did not reveal any of the details of the indictment returned against Ackley. It asked that the man be arrested and held pending the arrival of West Virginia authorities.

MICHIGAN GETS KILLER BURKE

Decision on Extradition Made Today by Missouri Governor.

BULLETIN

By The Associated Press

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 28—Extradition papers for the return of Fred Burke, notorious gunman and gangster, to Michigan, were honored by Governor Henry S. Caulfield today.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 28—A fight for custody of Fred Burke, roaming machine gunner, appeared for the finish today as authorities from Chicago and St. Joseph, Mich., prepared to press their claims before Gov. Henry S. Caulfield.

While representatives from both cities were awaiting a hearing before the governor in Jefferson City, Harry Ditchburne, assistant state attorney of Chicago, said he would press for custody of the gunman.

Linked With Massacre

Burke, arrested at Milan, Mo., Thursday, is wanted in Cook county for the participation in the St. Valentine day massacre of seven cohorts of George (Bugs) Moran. He is accused of slaying a patrolman in the Michigan city.

Ditchburne indicated that, if necessary, Chicago authorities would augment their claims before the governor with heretofore unrevealed evidence.

"We've never put out all the evidence we have against Burke in the St. Valentine day massacre," he said. "We have witnesses who will identify Burke as one of the men who ran out of the Clark street garage."

The garage was used as rendesvous by members of the gang.

Earl W. Mathews, chief of police here, who laid plans for Burke's capture, however, was inclined to favor the demands of Michigan authorities.

Tin Plant Will Resume Full Working Schedule

By The Associated Press.

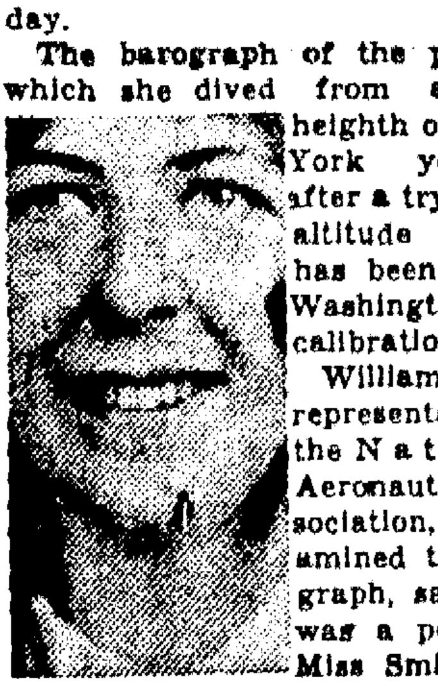
WHEELING, W. Va., March 28—The Wheeling Steel corporation today announced its Yorkville tin plant would operate on full time beginning Monday morning for the first time in nearly a year.

Crashes Plane But May Have New Air Record

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 28 — Ellnor Smith, girl aviator, had a thrill, a crackup, a good cry and maybe a record regained in her history today.

The barograph of the plane in which she dived from a dizzy heighth over New York yesterday after a try for the altitude record has been sent to Washington for calibration.



Elinor Smith

William Ward, representative of the National Aeronautical association, who examined the barograph, said there was a possibility Miss Smith went higher than the 28,734 feet mark set for women by Miss Ruth Nichols.

Miss Smith fainted at the top of her climb for lack of oxygen, plunged to 2,000 feet before regaining consciousness, glided to a small clearing in a clump of woods, and nosed over to avoid hitting a tree.

She was dazed, unhurt. She had a good cry, and announced she would try again next week.

DAISY RELEASED

Former Secretary of Clara Bow Freed from Jail on Writ.

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, Calif., March 28—Daisy DeBoe, blonde ex-secretary and former companion of Clara Bow, was at home today, success crowning her sixth attempt to gain release from jail on $5,000 bond.

"And I won't be back," she said. "We can't lose."

The girl who promised to "tell all" about her former actress employer, from whom she was convicted of stealing $825, and stopped telling only when she was ordered to do so by the court, was elated at her release. She held up her hands and smiled broadly at cameramen as she left the jail.

"Gee, I feel like singing," she said.

She had served more than 60 days of her 18 months term. Her release was ordered by the district court of appeals on a habeas corpus action brought by her attorney, William Bierne.

HARDING MUSICIANS WIN IN CONTESTS

High School Orchestra and String Ensemble Take First Prizes at Northern.

Harding High school's musicians entered two events at the fourth annual northwestern Ohio band and orchestra contest at Ohio Northern university yesterday and came off with first place in both events. The Marion school was the only one entered in the meet that won two prizes.

The orchestra was awarded a silver loving cup, while the string ensemble received the ribbon for first prize. Lima Central won the woodwind event, Bluffton the brass ensemble, and Fostoria the band contest. Bowling Green was the only school entered that did not score in any of the contests.

CHILDREN DIE IN BUS CAUGHT BY BLIZZARD

Five Freeze to Death as Vehicle Is Stalled in Snowdrifts.

18 OTHERS ARE RESCUED

Bus Driver in Colorado Tragedy Lost in Drift as He Seeks Help.

By The Associated Press.

HOLLY, Colo., March 28—Five children were frozen to death in a school bus stranded in a blizzard, 45 miles northeast of Lamar, Eighteen other children, occupants of the bus, were in a serious condition today. The storm swept the region Thursday.

News of the tragedy, which occurred late Thursday night, reached here this morning as the bodies were brought from the prairie country near Towner, Colorado, and placed in the Holly morgue.

The dead: John Stonebraker, Alice Untid, Mary Hufaker, Hazel Johnson and Mary Miller. The children range in age from 8 to 14 years.

Carl Miller, driver of the bus and father of one of the children, had not been found this morning. His bus stalled in the snow. Miller left in search of help and became lost in drifts, which ranged from 10 to 12 feet.

The 18 children who survived are being cared for at farm homes in the southeastern Colorado farm territory, which was hard hit by snows of Thursday and Friday.

Parents of the 23 children, alarmed at the failure of the school bus to arrive from the Towner community, organized a search late Thursday night, but it was not until late last night the bus was discovered, stalled in deep snow.

Physicians were summoned from all towns in the vicinity and volunteers were brought from as far east as Tribune, Kans. The children who survived the severe cold probably will recover.

Roads in the district were still impassable today, making the search for Miller extremely difficult.

Classes Dismissed

Miller's bus stalled about 10:30 o'clock Thursday morning. The storm was so intense that classes were dismissed at the Towner school. Miller called for the pupils and started with 23 of them for their homes.

At Pleasant Hill, 18 miles north of Holly, the bus stalled in a 12-foot drift, with the snow coming down so thick it was impossible to see any distance ahead.

Miller stayed with the children all day Thursday and Thursday night. Friday morning he started afoot for help, telling the children he intended to find a telephone. Miller never reached the telephone.

The children played school games all day Friday, but last night the severe cold took its toll. Five perished. Of the 18 survivors, nearly all are suffering from pneumonia and several have frozen hands, faces and feet. The small amount of food they carried with them to the school was exhausted Thursday night.

ANOTHER MISSING

Second Bus Carrying School Children Lost in Blizzard.

By United Press

TOWNER, Colo., March 28—As the story of the freezing to death of five children in a school bus stalled Thursday on a blizzard-swept highway was revealed today, reports came from Sheridan lake, 15 miles east of here, that another school bus carrying an undetermined number of children had been missing since Thursday.

Airplanes started from Denver, piloted by Eddie Brooks, and from Lamar, piloted by Jack Hart, to search for the second bus, and to take survivors of the first bus tragedy to Lamar for medical treatment.

Thousands of head of livestock, unprotected on the prairies, were frozen in their tracks and buried in deep drifts of snow. Old-timers said the blizzard, which struck Thursday morning and raged until yesterday afternoon with a 70-mile gale whipping the wet snow in blinding gusts, was worse than the memorable storm of 1886. The mercury dropped below zero.

Temperature Drop Due in Marion

Rainfall of three-fourths of an inch which last night drenched Marion probably will turn into snow flurries tonight when a belated blizzard from the northwest is due to sweep over Ohio.

Temperatures are scheduled to take a sharp drop when the late March blizzard arrives tonight. Sunday will be cloudy and colder with continued snow flurries, weathermen predicted.

2 LOSE LIVES IN HARDIN CO.

Columbus Residents Are Victims of Accident South of Kenton.

OTHERS INJURED IN MISHAP

Mrs. Cyrus McCoy, 70, Suffers Broken Neck; Dies on Way to Hospital.

Special to The Star.

KENTON, March 28—Two persons are dead while two others are in McKitrick hospital here suffering from injuries sustained in an automobile collision which occurred on the Columbus-Sandusky highway about seven miles south of here shortly after 8 a. m. today.

Mrs. Cyrus McCoy, 70, of Columbus, and Steve Ewing, colored, also of Columbus are victims of the crash, while Mrs. McCoy's son, A. B. McCoy, 43, also of Columbus is in a serious condition as the result of his injuries. Jack Armstrong, 21, of Columbus, Ewing's companion, escaped without any serious injury. McCoy suffered broken legs and cuts and bruises.

Mrs. McCoy died of a broken neck enroute to the hospital where the four were taken by a passing motorist from Columbus, shortly after the accident. Ewing who was driving one of the cars, died about 12:30 p. m. His injuries were a crushed chest and cuts and bruises.

The McCoys were enroute to Chicago to bring back the widow of another son who was killed in a street car accident. Mrs. McCoy was the widow of "Squire" Cyrus McCoy former well-known Lancaster constable. Her death was the third violent demise in the family in 10 years. Homer McCoy, a son, met death under the wheels of a Chicago street car. Joe McCoy, 18, was stabbed to death in Columbus during a fight with a fellow employe about 10 years ago.

Pavement Slippery

Among the survivors is a daughter Mrs. Amando Maybe, of Cleveland.

Both machines were damaged. The slippery pavement caused by a driving rain is believed to have caused the crash.

21 Smallpox Cases Reported in Lima

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., March 28 — A near epidemic of smallpox in Lima was reported today by the division of epidemiology of the state health department. Twenty-one cases were on record yesterday. The state department will not act in the matter unless Lima requests aid, it was said.

Poor Gandhi

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., March 28—This hero business is pretty ticklish. They are throwing rocks at Gandhi in India already. Chaplin is the sole survivor.

See where the Republicans threatened to make an issue out of the carrying on of Tammany Hall.

Tammany says, "Ye-eah; well, you just start, and when we open up on you!"

Prominent man, or organization can't get back at some enemy like they would like to, for their own nose is not clean.

They claim business is getting better, because there is fewer apples being sold on the street. Lord, that only means it's getting worse.

OFFICIAL KILLS YOUTH; TURNS GUN ON SELF

Deputy Sheriff Takes Own Life After Altercation During "Beer Party."

TRAGEDY IN UNION COUNTY

Allen Liggett, Former High School Football Captain, One of Victims.

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, March 28—A deputy sheriff and a youth are dead today as the result of a double tragedy enacted in Union county this morning.

Turns Gun on Self

A few hours after he shot and killed a 19-year-old youth during an alleged beer drinking party, Special Deputy Sheriff Thomas Beach of Plain City took his own life, according to information from the Union county sheriff's office today.

Beach is said to have shot the youth, Allen Liggett, 19, at the Liggett home one mile southwest of New California in Union county when Liggett attempted to quiet the deputy. Either through repentance for his hasty act or through fear of capture, Beach shot himself with his revolver at his home in Plain City as Sheriff William Rausch and deputies approached his house to arrest him on a charge of manslaughter.

Complete information concerning the shootings could not be obtained early today as officials had not yet completed their investigations.

Mrs. George Butler, mother of the Liggett boy, said she had been selling beer to support herself and her son.

Outwits Officers

Deputy Beach is said to have shot Liggett about 1 a. m. today. Liggett died shortly after 2 a. m. Deputy Beach took his own life about 7:30 a. m. when the sheriff's officials approached his house.

Beach was a special deputy and not a regular employe in the sheriff's office, Union county officials said today.

Liggett graduated from Marysville High school last spring. He was captain of the Marysville football squad.

Union county authorities are holding several persons for questioning in connection with the shooting at the Liggett home, but would give out no names today. Three other men were drinking with Beach.

PRESENT EVIDENCE ON POTTER MURDER GUN

State Seeks To Prove Martin Was Owner of Weapon.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., March 28—With "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin further linked to the scene of the slaying of former Councilman William E. Potter, the state today strode toward another crucial point of its case—ownership of the gun which brought death to the politician.

The state has two women witnesses to connect the murder gun with Martin. They are Mrs. Ruth M. Lieberman, wife of former Patrolman Morris Lieberman, and Mrs. Lucille Dymiticuk of Lorain, former nurse in the Lieberman home here. Both have asserted that Lieberman said he sold the gun to Martin.

Lieberman, however, denied their statements and at least one of the state's attorneys said he doubted whether their testimony could be introduced.

Four witnesses yesterday strengthened the state's claim that Martin knew Potter and visited the East Side Apartment where the former councilman was slain the night of Feb. 3.

Martin's alleged visit to the murder scene were told by Betty Gray, who lived in the apartment below the one in which Potter's body was found, and Queen Esther Morgan, a 16-year-old high school girl who also lived in the building.

Marion's Present Interest in Art Traced To Activities of Local Group Years Ago

BY HALLIE HOUCK

MARION'S present interest in the arts, which is developing into a Fine Arts evening, Tuesday, April 14, at The Star auditorium can be traced from the talent and ambition of a daughter of one of Marion's pioneer families.

A booth will be set aside at the exhibit for the work of a group of these early students of the arts as far back as the '60's.

Goes to Girls' School

The story goes that Elizabeth Concklin, daughter of Col. Washington W. Concklin, a pioneer of Marion county, one of the most beautiful girls in Marion, was sent to Pittsfield, Mass., in 1844 to attend the Mary Lyons School for Girls. She was the first girl from Marion to go to a girls' school. She was 12 years old when she matriculated and was a student there six years.

The school curriculum included the fine arts. When the "finished" young girl returned to Marion there were no teachers of music and art available, and after her marriage to Dr. R. L. Sweeney, she took it upon herself to tutor her children. Soon she had many of the children in the growing village under her tutelage and school teachers were coming to her for polishing in the understanding of the worthwhile arts. The classes were in her home, on the site now occupied by the Frank Bros. Co. store.

Among her pioneer pupils were her daughter, Mrs. Auguste Rhu, late wife of Dr. A. Rhu, Mrs. J. F. McNeal, Bright Durfee, Mrs. H. T. Van Fleet and Mrs. Eva Wallace Fairfield, all deceased. Mrs. Gertrude Kling, Mrs. Eugenia Dickson, Mrs. R. O. Hopkins and Mrs. Agnes Knapp, Henry True and Miss Jane Wallace, residents of Marion. Many of her students are living today in the four corners of the country.

Bright Durfee, one of her pupils was highly commended by the famous artist, Frank Duveneck, for his excellent painting. Mrs. Alice Durfee McNeil, deceased, one of her pupils, studied art in Europe for seven years. A Durfee painting will be in the Fine Arts exhibit.

In 1879 a group of women under the leadership of Mrs. Sweeney, and including Miss Belle Johnston, Miss Mary Leonard, Mrs. Hopkins, Mrs. Mae Harshberger, Mrs. Van Fleet, Mrs. Harry Quigley, now living in Cincinnati, Mrs. Will Fisher, Mrs. Carrie Scofield Marshman, Miss Wallace, Mrs. Eva Fairfield and Mrs. William B. Fisher, formed Marion's first Art club, with headquarters in the Fisher building on the site of the Citizen's Building & Loan Co. A Mikado tea cleared $100 for the club.

Teaches Wood Carving

Clara DeWolfe, who had been studying art under the famous Pittman of Cincinnati, came to the club and taught the members wood carving, some of which will be on display at the Fine Arts exhibit.

The club survived until 1895. Miss Belle Johnston, its secretary-treasurer, is its only surviving officer. In 1888 Mrs. Minnie Gregg Myers opened classes in art in Marion and among her pupils were the late Mrs. Warren G. Harding, Mrs. Harvey Gracely, Mrs. Thomas McMurray, Mrs. W. H. Hinklin, Mrs. John Kreis and Mrs. Clara Bowen Campbell.

Mrs. Mary Bishop Sharpless also had an art studio, on the site of the Christian Science church and it was in her classes that Karl Bolander, now director of the Columbus Gallery of Fine Arts and the Columbus Art school, had his first taste of color and line in art.

From her classes came Mrs. Crete Drake Burton, now an important figure in the art department of Marshall Field's Chicago store, Mrs. Flossie Shurz Schoenlaub, who has gained recognition for her work in the art department of the Stone Thomas store in Huntington, W. Va., and Mrs. Etta Hochstetter now in the Palace Gift shop here.

Art Club Federated

Out of the art movements has developed the Art club, founded as a study club more than 12 years ago and federated some time later. The Art club is heartily cooperating in the enterprise of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs to make the Fine Arts evening outstanding in Marion's history. Its present roster includes many women who have been teachers of art in colleges and who have studied art here and abroad.

Among Marion citizens who have gone far in the art world are Mr. Bolander, Wayne Wilhelm, now in Brooklyn, N. Y., teaching art in a Brooklyn high school, Arthur Lukens who painted the October 1930 cover for the Outdoor American magazine, Charles Klinefelter, commercial artist in New York City, Miss Elizabeth Hopkins, art supervisor in the Cleveland schools and Miss Eleanor M. Freeland, supervisor of all art teachers in the Pittsburgh schools.

Products of all the Marion persons who have gone far in the art world, those who have "hidden their light under a bushel," and several state and national exhibits will be shown at the Fine Arts exhibit.

Betsy Ross Elects Representatives To Conventions

MRS. R. K. MICHEL and Mrs. W. Ray Anthony were elected delegates from Betsy Ross Auxiliary of United Spanish War Veterans to a department convention at Delaware June 21-24 and Mrs. R. M. Miller was elected a delegate to a national convention at New Orleans, La., Sept. 6-10, at a meeting of the auxiliary yesterday afternoon in the American Legion dugout.

Mrs. E. E. Glosser and Mrs. Fred Morrison were elected alternates to the department meeting and Mrs. Zed Gunder was elected alternate to the national convention.

Mrs. Eldie Mason, president of the auxiliary was in charge of the meeting. Plans were made to present two American flags to the Indiana Avenue school in the near future. Mrs. Anna B. Jones, patriotic instructor, will make the presentation. Mrs. Thomas Glaze was named to serve on a child welfare committee and Mrs. James Cusic was named on the Americanization committee.

Mrs. Zed Guner, historian, read several historical articles of interest to the auxiliary. In a contest held in a social hour, honors were won by Mrs. Eldie Mason. Lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Blanche Eddings, Mrs. Sarah Thompson and Mrs. Eldie Mason. A benefit card party will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Glaze of North Main street, on April 7. The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held April 24 at the dugout.

Greenwood Evangelical Banner Class Meets

The Banner class of Greenwood Evangelical church met at the home of Miss Lois Longacre of 594 George street last night. Prayer was offered by Miss Longacre and Miss Florence Armbruster. Scripture was read by Miss Glenna Splawn. Miss Helen Cook was elected president of the class to fill the vacancy left by Miss Betty Arndt who resigned. Miss Longacre was elected to the office of vice president.

The guessing prize was won by Miss Marguerite Bosh. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Eva Mae Wilson of Jefferson street the last Thursday in April.

Golden Rule Class of Oakland Church Meets

Mrs. Opal Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Parker entertained members of the Golden Rule class of Greenwood Evangelical church Thursday night at the Parker home on Ballentine avenue. The meeting was in charge of Eugene Donaugh. Opening prayers were offered by Mrs. Dorothy Ervin and Rev. Irvin Kauffman, pastor of Greenwood church.

Mrs. Ervin and Mrs. Belle Donaugh contributed two piano duets and Mr. and Mrs. Parker sang a duet accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Lowell Cook gave a reading. Rev. Kauffman and Mrs. Frances Shumate won the contest awards. A box social was enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. William Shumate, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dutt and Mrs. Alice Strine were visitors.

Alpha Delta Class Meets at Jump Home

Members of the Alpha Delta class of Central Christian church met with Miss Mildred Margaret Jump of 743 South Prospect street Thursday night. After the business session the time was spent socially.

In the contests Mrs. Garnet Cross won first prize while Mrs. Alice Peters received the guessing box. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Cleo Guy. The next meeting will be held April 23.

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

SATURDAY, and we are one week nearer to vacation, and another week nearer to the time we can all go swimming, if the girls don't go along with us. I felt lamed when I woke up this morning and then I remembered that I had jumped out of the tree when I thought the Lost Bag of Tripe was holding the rope. I bet that is higher than any boy of my size has ever jumped, and I bet I came down harder and stopped quicker than any other boy ever did. A fella that plays with anyone like the Lost Bag of Tripe ought to have a parachute strapped on him all the time and a catcher's mask and shin guards and everything. He is a very crook, and if it wasn't for him we could have a lot more fun.

The bunch all came while I was milking the dummed brutes after tying Jubilee down. Sometime I wish I could trade Jubilee off for a munky because a munky has got hands like a human being and maybe I could train it to milk the dummed brutes and that would give me a lot more time to do things but I would rather have a munky and not trade Jubilee off.

When Frenchy came he said he was sorry he had cut his rope in pieces and gave them to the girls for jumping rope, and when Red asted him why he was sorry he showed us. His father asted him where the rope was and when he told him he was mad and he went after Frenchy with his belt, and he was certainly sorry in a lot of places. Whilst he was showing us, the Lost Bag of Tripe peeked out of the crack in the door and said "Cheese it! The girls!" but no one believes the Lost Bag of Tripe so we only grinned at him and went on looking at the marks on Frenchy's back. Feeble always yoo-hoos when she is coming, but this was one of the times when she forgot to. She pulled the door open and said, "What are we going to do today?" and then she saw Frenchy who was half ways out of the hole into the alley, and she slammed the door shut and the girls went in the house.

I was almost ashamed to go in to strain the milk, but I had to, and when I came out the bunch had skun out, because I have to clean the stable on Saturdays and they didn't want to wait for me. The girls waited and after I got the stable done me and Hopper, who is our crip and waits for me went out to the woods with them, and we found a lot of wild violets and a few wild lilies and wild plum blossoms and dogwoods, and then we went to Younisses house and they made some fudge, and we had a pretty good time. As good a time as a fella can have with girls. I was glad the bunch had skun out. Next Wednesday will be April Fool day, and I bet whatever happens won't happen to me. My unkle has got a job, and will get paid next Saturday.

CHAPTER 24

A Suspicious Wife

"COME to my room," Nurse Jones had said quietly, as Mr. James closed Marjorie's door.

"Now," said she when they had entered that sanctuary, "what's the game? I'd tear your throat out if I found you double-crossing me with another woman. You know what I was when you first tempted me, as decent a girl as any in England or America, and you know what you made me."

"Aw! Cut that out," snarled Mr. James. "There's too much comes out of your face.'

"Yes, and I'll cut your heart out, if you give me cause. When you took me out of nursing, and out of a decent life, you took me for keeps, and don't you forget it. I know enough about you, James Gryde, to send you to the chair. Now then, what's your game with this Lauderdell piece?"

"Well, I'll tell you. The boss has weakened on a proposition that meant a helluva fine wad. This Lauderdell skirt was brought here by an old-time side-kicker of his. The girl comes into 100,000 sterling when she's 21. And if she doesn't live to win it, the boss' old pal gets it, because her husband's the girl's uncle and heir."

Louie the Lady pinched her lower lip and eyed her husband narrowly.

"And if her clock stops before it strikes 21, the boss gets a rake-off?" she observed.

"He gets 10 per cent, and the fool's throwing in his hand because Waye knows all about it. The boss has thrown his old pal down—and us, too. Not that the old devil was going to share that ten thousand."

"Double-cross us?" asked Louie the Lady.

"You said it . . . Well, we'll double-cross him. We'll do the job and I'll go and collect from Maud—the boss' pal—double the rake-off."

"You speaking the truth — for once?"

"Course I'm speaking the truth. Go and ask the old man, if you don't believe me. He'll wonder if the gardener and the butler are going to inquire next."

"P'raps I will. Meantime, s'pose you just mention what you were doing in that girl's room. If she comes into cash when she's 21, were you thinking of inheriting the lot as her fake husband?"

"My, what a mind you've got!" ejaculated Mr. James.

"Yes, Jimmy—how long have I had the benefit of your teaching? What were you doing in that room?"

"Did you ever hear of a wise crook casting an eye on the lie of the land?"

"Or on the girl?" sneered Louie the Lady.

"Sister, did I say you make me tired? Listen. Did you ever hear of a gunman learning the habits of the man he was going to bump off? Did you ever hear of a yeggman going to have a look at the premises where they keep the safe he's going to blow? I went into that girl's room to see for myself where she keeps her drinks, and medicines and so on. D'you think I want to go snooping round in the night and have her wake up when I knock something over?"

"You were talking to her?"

"Course I was, when I found her there. Hadn't I got to make it look natural?"

"Well, what's the game?"

"Oh, I'll weaken on it now, like the boss. And you'll lose your half of $50,000 or more, for your cleverness . . . Real vallyble partner you are!"

"When have I failed you? Haven't I done the vilest . . . Were you going to ask me to help you, Jimmy?"

"Course I was. But now I . . ."

"What is it you want me to do, Jimmy?"

"Get hold of Manoel's coffin-drops, that stuff he reckons he's the only white man who has got the low-down on. D'you know where he keeps it?"

"No, but I can get anything I want out of Manoel," boasted Nurse Jones.

"So? And you're jealous if I go into a girl's room on business! What'll you tell Manoel you want the poison for?"

"That it's for a cat I want to get rid of."

"Gee! And so it is!" laughed Mr. James.

When Mr. James, as he regularly did, moved about the house in the night or the small hours of the morning his silence and comparative invisibility were remarkable. Black clothing, socks, gloves and a black silk handkerchief about his face, rendered him but a more substantial shadow among the immaterial shadows and darkness of the anicent house.

Armed and alert, he acted as though a dangerous enemy might attempt entry—such as he who entered the house of Mr. Webb of Witherby End—to slay and rob.

There had been, a year or two ago, a story about a maid who, going to bed quite sane, was discovered later to be quite insane. The silly creature could only babble of a black bogey in the corridor.

And now Mrs. Meekins, the housekeeper, was telling Mr. Board, the butler, that here was Ella Spragge, that pretty housemaid, wanting to leave.

Her tale was that she crept out of the room where she and two others slept, and went down to the floor below to ask the nurse to give her something for a raging toothache.

As she got to the bottom of the staircase, she saw, according to her account, "an awful black thing" pass the end of the corridor, and, as she stood, trembling in terror, another—a bigger one—went past the same spot. The next thing she knew was that she was half-lying at the bottom of the stairs and as cold as death. When she had "come round a bit more," she had crept to her room, her toothache completely cured.

"Have her up before the doctor," opined Mr. Board. "That gel thought she'd like to make a sensation and get a bit o' importance."

And yet despite Mr. Board and his opinion of a maid's veracity, the shadow that was Mr. James had, upon occasion, a shadow, though he did not cast it.

Mr. John Waye, who slept little and mostly by day, was invariably awake between the hours of 10, when nurses went off duty for the night and 6 in the morning, when nurses and daylight did appear. Some part of the night he spent in writing, some in reading, and at certain hours he sat in darkness and in thought, his sad face grim.

It was his unvarying practice to sit facing the door of his room, and to keep that door wide open. The night nurse, passing on her rounds at midnight, would see him and he would see her, or any one else who might pass.

When the night-nurse had made her rounds, and switched off all lights save at corners, staircases or intersecting corridors, Mr. Waye, armed with a black pin and a reel of black cotton, would dart across the corridor, stick the pin in the top of the wainscot, attach the end of the cotton thereto, and return to his door. Here he would break the cotton from the reel, and, passing the end of this détached piece through the key-hole, would tie it to his little finger, and then, seating himself in his armchair, draw it taut.

Thus, across the dark corridor ran an invisibile line of communication that would be tugged and broken by any passer-by, and Mr. Wayne be instantly aware of the fact. Nor would the prowler suppose that his silent passing was recorded.

And, this night, as was his custom, John Waye sat on guard.

Rosemary . . . Marjorie . . . Would they, at the same age, have been indistinguishable? How his heart had leapt, and how nearly he had cried "Rosemary" before them all when first his eyes had fallen upon her. Darling beautiful Marjorie!

Suddenly the little finger of John Waye's sensitive hand felt a slight but quite perceptible twitch.

To Be Continued.

"Heart of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Waives Objection to Her Daughter's Attendance at the Brixton Party.

"IF that isn't just like a woman!" Harry Underwood quoted with a grin, as Lillian said that she wondered if Mary's decision was the result of my "eloquence" or because of something in Noel's letter which Mary did not like. "Gets what she wants, then begins to tear holes in the covering to see what the sawdust inside looks like. What does it matter why she said yes, as long as she said it?"

"Nothing that you or any other man could understand," his wife returned witheringly.

"Aha!" Mr. Underwood retorted imperturbably. "That inflection means I'd better travel away from here for a little space. My sage counsel is no longer needed. All right, oh sapient spouse! what wouldst of me?"

"I wouldst," Lillian said with the smile which her husband's ridiculous raillery always evokes, "that you travel to the lower floor, pronto, and tell Marion I'd like to see her."

"Selfish!" her big husband said. "Why not let me break the glad news to her that she's going to the party?"

Lillian's eyes were suddenly soft, I had grown to recognize the look. It is the one which always comes when her husband says something which indicates the affection which is his for his winsome stepdaughter, whose prejudice against him had made both her mother and himself miserable for so many weary days, but who was now, in her own schoolgirl parlance, "simply tacky" about him.

"Of course" she assented "But when you've told her, send her up here, anyway. If she's going, we'll have to go into a clothes session."

"Don't let Carolyn outshine her," he warned as he went out of the door, and Lillian looked after him with shining eyes.

"He'd spoil her to death if I'd let him," she said proudly, and I smiled back at her with heartfelt joy in her happines. She had far more reason for her gratitude to her husband than she guessed, I told myself, for my interview with Mary had explained the reason for Harry's insistence that she go down to the Brixton's with Marion, and also had increased my respect—already needing no increase—for the big man's keenness of perception and delicacy of maneuver. He had discovered Charles Owen's wish to marry Marion, something which the rascally half-brother of Samuel Brixton undoubtedly thought was not yet evident to anyone, so careful was he to conceal his attentions to her behind the guise of his pseudo "uncleship" to Carolyn Brixton. That Mr. Underwood was determined Lillian should not know of this complication—with its attendant terror for her—as long as he could keep it from her. I was sure that he was relying not only upon Mary as a guard against Owen's machinations, but upon the strong attraction between Marion and Ronald. Did he perhaps hope to have Ronald's eyes opened, and thus an ally in the Brixton home?

Youth Must Be Served

The sound of running feet on the stairs called me back from conjecture to reality, and the next minute brought Marion, wild with delight, to her mother's side.

"Oh! you darling, darling Mummy!" she said exuberantly. "Dad says you and he have agreed that I can go."

I felt a sympathetic little thrill at the joy which I knew was in Lillian's heart at her daughter's conjunction of her stepfather's name with hers in her unconscious recognition of their authority over her movements. That anxious time of Marion's rebellion was over now, so completely that even the memory of it was fast fading from our minds

"Yes, darling." Lillian's voice held the lilt which is always in it when she speaks to her idolized child. "Of course, it's really absurd, you've barely reached home, but I suppose —"

"Youth must be served," Marion quoted, laughing and rubbing her cheek against her mother's. "If only Mary would go, too!"

Lillian and I exchanged a quick glance, in mutual comprehension of Harry Underwood's discretion. He had given no hint to Marion that he and Lillian were permitting this trip only on condition that Mary accompanied her. We knew that Mary would be equally discreet, and I spoke quickly.

"I wish Mary would go, also. It would do her a world of good. Why don't you coax her a bit? I really believe that's all she needs."

"Honestly?" Marion was half way to the door as she spoke. "Just watch me put on a coaxing act! It's the very best thing I do."

"I'll be along in a minute or two to see you strut your stuff," her mother told her fondly. "And then we'll discuss clothes. You really ought to have one or two new frocks. We can run over to Southampton, and get them."

"Oh!—oh!" Marion was breathless as she dashed away.

"I must see that Mary has something new, also," I said, a little later, when Lillian rose to follow her daughter. "Let me know what Marion is taking, and I'll look after Mary."

"You would," Lillian said fondly, and went away leaving me alone with my baby daughter. But only a minute of solitude was mine, for Katherine's voice sounded behind me.

"Ah! you're alone!" she said. "I'm so glad! I want you to read this."

CAGE TOURNAMENT ENTERS FINAL DAY

13 QUINTETS SURVIVE FRIDAY COMPETITION

Y-Indus Only Marion Team Left in Play; Finals at 9 P. M. Today.

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK
Sports Editor, The Star

WITH nearly every team of minor caliber weeded out by the process of elimination the final round of competition commenced today in the first annual north central Ohio amateur basketball tournament. The tourney is being held in The Star auditorium. Thirteen of the original 29 entries have survived the first and second rounds of play.

Eleven teams were added to the list of eliminated yesterday in the same number of games. One Marion outfit, the Y-Indus remains in the list of undefeated.

Of the six Columbus teams entered four dropped by the wayside in yesterday's competition. Mansfield's two entries, the Bibler Clothes and Parkinson Plumbers turned in victories to hold their places in the competition.

The only other city to have more than a single team enterd, Plain City still is represented by one organization. The Plain City Alumni were beaten yesterday but the Cubs' team of the same city came through with a victory to remain in the tourney.

Result of games yesterday follow: Y-Indus 19, D. L. Auld, Columbus 4; Wilson A. C., Columbus 25, St. Augustine, Columbus 17; Green Camp Independents 16, West Mansfield, 14; Wiles Collegians 37, Little Gem A. C., Newark, 6; Niles Kreegers 29, State Industrial Commission 16; Brown Independents 34, Plain City Alumni 10; Kibler Clothes, Mansfield 29, Findlay Merchants 18; Phi Kappa Psi, Ohio Wesleyan, 20, Upper Sandusky 9; Blayney Buicks, Mt. Gilead 18, Columbus Unions 14; Parkinson Plumbers 42, New Washington 19; Plain City Cubs 25, Broadway M. E. 9.

The final games of the tournament will commence tonight at 9 o'clock. A consolation game between the losers of the semi final games will start an hour earlier.

WITH nearly every team eliminated except those of distinctly major caliber, competition in the north central Ohio amateur basketball tournament is expected to become extremely spirited in today's games. The teams that remain in the tourney are all battling hard to get a shot at the title in the final game. Some first class thrillers are in prospect for the final day's round.

Beat the Wile's Collegians and win the tournament championship seems to be the general consensus as the teams go into the final round of play.

The Collegians, with an all-star lineup are plenty tough. Not a man on the first team is less than six feet tall. Last night the Collegians handed the Little Gem A. C. of Newark a one-sided 37-6, plastering. Today they face more serious opposition, the next probable opponents being the Wilson A. D. of Columbus.

The Y-Indus club continues to carry the banner of Marion, now having eliminated the Richwood Independents and the L. L. Auld Co., of Columbus, both by one-sided scores.

The outlook for the local champs is anything but rosy for the Y-Indus as far as getting into the finals are concerned. Right now it looks like the club would chalk up another victory and then take a beating.

Approximately the same number of spectators viewed the conflicts last night as paid their way into the auditorium the first night of the tournament. Nearly 200 persons were present.

The Y-Indus continues to hold the tournament records. One was established the first night of play when the Marion club played a full game with Richwood without having a field goal scored against it. The Y-Indus also boasts the best defensive record for the first two games, a total of eight points having been scored by the opposition. Four points were scored in each game.

* * *

Walter Lockwood of the Y-Indus team, who held the honor of being high scorer of the tournament for the first night's games, saw his record of 13 points go a glimmering yesterday afternoon when Beeper, Mansfield Plumbers' center commenced his bombardment of the basket in a game with New Washington. The lanky Mansfield pivot man turned in a total of 10 baskets and three free throws for 23 points. Not bad for one game.

Defending Titlists Lose in Tri-State Tourney

By The Associated Press.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., March 28—A new champion will emerge tonight from the Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Michigan teams surviving the play in the annual Tri-State independent basketball tournament.

Wooster Ideal dairies, defending titlists, were eliminated last night by Youngstown Gustav-Adolph, 25 to 18. The victory sent the Youngstown five into the quarter-finals. Youngstown St. Ann defeated East Liverpool Cooper insurance, 29 to 23, and the East Liverpool city country club, conquered the Lisbon, O., Merchants, 45 to 21.

Difficult Task Confronts Wesleyan Baseball Coach

DELAWARE, O., March 28—With the opening game just eight days away and regular outdoor practice not yet started, Coach Fritz Mackey, of the Ohio Wesleyan baseball team, faces a most difficult task. Mackey has been busy this month with spring football practice and although some of his squad have worked outdoors several days recently, Mackey has not yet had an opportunity to conduct any regular practice sessions.

The difficulty of preparing for the opening game is further increased by the fact that the Battling Bishops have but four eligible lettermen, Elmer Reger, New Philadelphia, catcher; John Farr, Worcester, Mass., outfielder; James McElhaney, Portsmouth, outfielder, and Phelps Hand, Washington, D. C., outfielder. James Vezie, Fredericktown, Pa., pitcher, may become eligible before the season opens by passing make up examinations in academic subjects in which he is conditioned.

In an effort to get ready for their clash with Ohio State, the candidates for the Ohio Wesleyan baseball team will forfeit their spring vacation which starts next Wednesday and will remain in Delaware reporting for practice twice a day.

Although Coach Mackey has had very little opportunity to size up his prospect, he is inclined to believe that the Bishop team will include many sophomores. Wilmer Dickerson, Adena, and George Munson, Cincinnati, will give the Bishops a first class sophomore battery. Ineligibility has largely wrecked the prospects for a top-notch infield. Outstanding prospects now seem to be Randall Leyshon, Girard; Charles Elkins, Lakewood; Kenneth Burrell, Akron; Dale Rose, Clarington; and Charles Worcester, Blue Ash.

Ohio Wesleyan's 12 game baseball schedule is as follows: April 4, Ohio State, Columbus; April 11, Ohio State; April 17, DePauw university; April 21, Denison university, Granville; April 25, University of Cincinnati, Cincinnati; April 29, Miami university; May 4, Wabash college; May 6, Ohio university; May 12, Ohio university, Athens; May 16, University of Cincinnati; May 19, Denison university, and May 22, Miami university, Oxford.

O'Connell Named Pilot of Huber Baseball Team

Bob O'Connell has been named manager of the Huber Manufacturing company baseball team for the coming season. O'Connell is an outfielder.

Harold (Hack) Wilson has been chosen as captain of the team with H. J. Price as assistant manager.

The Huber company is viewing the 1931 baseball season with optimism, O'Connell said today.

DAYTON AWARDS LETTERS

By The Associated Press

DAYTON, O., March 28—University of Dayton basketball letters have been awarded to Edward Hamant of Dayton, James Flynn of Toledo, Lawrence Lehnis of Alliance, Fred Brandel of Hamilton, Harold Fearn of Detroit, Mich., Fred Cramer of Tiffin, and Edwin Flannagan of Dayton. The latter was named honorary captain of the 1930-31 teams.

BASEBALL WORLD IS DEPRIVED OF LEADER

Death Follows Entry to Mayo Clinic for Rest Period; 56 Years Old.

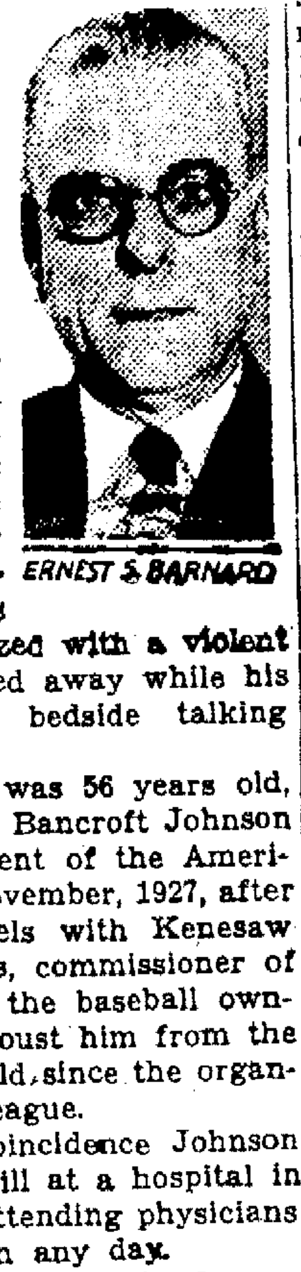
BY CHARLES DUNKLEY,
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, March 28—Grief prevails through the baseball world today over the sudden death of Ernest S. Barnard, president of the American league. He died late yesterday afternoon, the victim of a heart attack at the Mayo brothers' clinic at Rochester Minn.

The baseball leader had been in apparently good health until the time of the annual meeting of the American league in New York last December when he suffered an attack of influenza. He continued his work, however, against the advice of his physicians until the meeting was over. Then he went to Florida for a brief rest before starting his annual inspection tour of the American league training camps.

Health Fails

Mr. Barnard's health, however, had not returned to normal, and he decided to consult the Mayos, believing he was suffering from stomach trouble. He reached Rochester Wednesday. His case was diagnosed immediately as heart disease. He was ordered to bed, but was not informed of the seriousness of his condition. He was resting easily and in apparently no distress when he was seized with a violent attack and passed away while his wife was at his bedside talking with him.



ERNEST S. BARNARD

Barnard, who was 56 years old, succeeded Byron Bancroft Johnson as second president of the American league in November, 1927, after Johnson's quarrels with Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, caused the baseball owners to virtually oust him from the office he had held since the organization of the league.

By strange coincidence Johnson is now gravely ill at a hospital in St. Louis, and attending physicians expect his death any day.

Formerly of Cleveland

Mr. Barnard formerly lived in Cleveland and his burial probably will be held there Tuesday. He is survived only by his widow and mother.

Pending the election of another president, the office probably will be administered by Frank J. Navin, owner of the Detroit club, and vice-president of the league, with the assistance of Secretary Harridge.

Before his election to succeed Johnson, Barnard was connected with the Cleveland club of the American league for 25 years. In 1903 the Cleveland club named him as secretary of the team and when James C. Dunn, majority stockholder of the club, died a few years ago, he was elected president. He retained this position until four years ago when the American league club leaders chose him to succeed Johnson.

Began Career in 1901

Barnard, a quiet man who took his baseball seriously, had friends all over the league, and his advice and counsel was highly regarded. He began his career as a sports editor in Columbus, Ohio, when he took his first flyer into professional baseball. He helped organize the Columbus club of the Western association and in 1901 the owner named him president of the league. He relinquished this job, however, when Columbus joined the American association.

In 1903 the Cleveland club named him as secretary of the club and he pushed steadily ahead, forming new friends and acquaintances in the baseball world.

WILL TRY COMEBACK

Paul Berlenbach to Attempt Return to Fistic World.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 28—Paul Berlenbach is trying to make a come-back.

He is the black-haired, black-browed, swarthy German kid who climbed down from the driver's seat of a taxicab to win an Olympic westling championship, turned to the ring and in sixteen months was the light heavyweight champion of the world. He all but tore the bodies out of his foes with a savage left hook, piled up a string of 23 knockouts, 17 of them in a round apiece, and crowned his colorful career by coming back, after being knocked out by Jack Delaney, to win the 175-pound crown from Mike McTigue.

During his ring career Berlenbach earned close to $500,000. He'll get $40 Tuesday night for fighting the Negro, Eddie Clark.

TURNESA HOLDS LEAD IN GOLF TOURNEY

Elmsford, N. Y. Pro, Has One Stroke Advantage in Southern Play.

By The Associated Press

PINEHURST, N. C., March 28—Hole score of 73 shot in a drenching rain, enabling Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y., professional, to have a one-stroke lead today with three fourths of the 72-hole north and south open golf tournament behind him.

Turnesa, whose 142 for the first 36 holes Thursday put him one-stroke ahead at the half way mark, added a 73 in the rain yesterday for a 54 hole count of 215.

In face of the downpour, tournament officials postponed 18 holes of the final 36, scheduled for yesterday, until today.

First prize is $1,,500 with the rest of the $5,600 going to the 14 players with the next lowest scores.

Dogging Turnesa's steps in the money chase at the end of the 54 holes was Johnny Golden, Noroton, Conn., pro., who hammered out three consecutive 72's for a 218 aggregate.

Billy Burke of Greenwich, Conn., and Wiffy Cox of Brooklyn,, were next with 217s, while Bobby Cruickshank of Purchase, N. Y., had 218.

Right or Left—It Meant Curtains for Barker

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, O., March 28—Red Barker, Portsmouth glove tosser, today couldn't decide whether it was a drilling hard right fist with 150-pound young Tuffy Griffith of Columbus behind it, or the floor which his head struck.

Responding to five minutes of medical attention after taking it on the chin in the second round with Tuffy here Friday night, Barker wasn't in much of a mood to care. Fans, however, roared their approval, even though they saw but two rounds of the 10 they had paid for.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN IS GIVEN DECISION OVER SIOUX CITY FIGHTER

Tuffy Griffiths Unable To Fathom Clever Attack of Philadelphia Pug.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 28—Tommy Loughran, the master of boxing from Philadelphia, is still at large on his ambitious raid through the ranks of the heavyweights, and his latest victim is tough Gerald Ambrose Griffiths of Sioux City, Ia.

Loughran, with 11 years of campaigning behind him, last night gave the youthful Griffiths a boxing lesson in 10 rounds, to add the Iowan to a list of seven straight conquests which included Max Baer, Ernie Schaaf, Dick Daniels and King Levinsky. The task was a little more difficult than usual, however, for the weaving, bobbing Griffiths offered a poor target during the first four rounds, and the decision was not unanimous. Judges voted for Loughran, while referee Dave Barry called it a draw.

Customers, of whom there were 13,124 who paid, leaving $36,155 at the gates, were satisfied with the decision.

Griffiths made a great start, plastering Loughran about the ring in the first round and gaining a distinct edge. The second was even, and from there on Loughran continued to move out in front. The tough one made the fight and did everything he could to reach Loughran. He tried to get around that long left hand, and attempted to get under it, without success. He finally tried to pile through it, and took a neat leathering for his efforts.

LA BARBA WINS

Los Angeles Fighter Pounds Out Decision Over Kid Francis.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 28—Fidel La Barba, Los Angeles veteran, has evened his score with Kid Francis of Italy and is steaming ahead at full speed toward a "shot" at the world's featherweight championship.

The one-time flyweight champion of the world fought a well-planned cagey battle to whip Francis decisively in a 10 round bout, though the 7.800 cash customers didn't like it.

La Barba popped a jarring le into the kid's features in annoying fashion all evening, pounded him a bit as they came to clo quarters and then tied him u firmly or held on when Franci attempted to get in a few socks a the body. The crowd hooted bu the verdict of the referee and tw judges was unanimous. The Associated Press score card gave L Barba six rounds and Francis tw with two even.

STOCKS SKID STILL LOWER

Less Encouraging Reports Cause Shares To Move In Downtrend.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, March 28—Less encouraging reports from the steel industry accelerated the decline in the stock market today.

The downward momentum gained in the bear drives late yesterday was maintained in large scale selling, the turnover for the two-hour trading period approximating 2,000,000 shares.

The week-end estimate of next week's steel mill operations in the Youngstown area, indicating a reduction from 51 to 58 per cent of capacity helped the bear cause. An unexpected slump in orders for automobile sheets was said to have cause a curtailment of operations by some of the smaller makers.

Furthermore, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., president of General Motors, was quoted as expressing a very conservative attitude toward business prospects. He looked for good business in 1932 and 1933, but felt that it would be a hard pull this year.

In the budget of adverse news, also, was further heaviness in copper metal. Considerable speculative metal was said to have been sold at 9¾ cents a pound, off ⅛ of a cent, and only ⅛ above the low of present century, touched last fall.

The weekly trade reports were mildly cheerful, pointing out that the approach of Eastern and brought the best week in retail trade so far this year.

Next Wednesday, April 1, will be the first big dividend payment date of the year, and estimates of total payments are around $500,000,000.

THEATER NEWS AND REVIEWS

"KISS ME AGAIN," VICTOR HERBERT PLOT, PLAYS OHIO

Picture Based on "Mlle Modiste" To Show Here Through Wednesday.

BY HALLIE HOUCK

BASED on Victor Herbert's "Mlle. Modiste," "Kiss Me Again," plays at the Ohio Sunday through Wednesday.

Bernice Claire, Walter Pidgeon and Edward Everett Horton are the three big names in the cast.

E. E. Horton Frederic March

"Mlle. Modiste" is the most famous of all the Herbert operettas. First National's 70 piece orchestra plays such famous airs as "Kiss Me Again," "The Mascot of the Troop," "The Time, the Place and the Girl", and all of the incidental music in this technicolor picture.

The mysterious "Sisters G," sensational dancers from continental Europe appear in the dance sequences of the picture. Their first names are Carla and Eleanor and they are twins. They were discovered by the late Lincoln Eyre, New York Times Berlin correspondent, dancing at a charity ball.

Did you know that it takes nearly twice as much candlepower to light up a movie set which is to be photographed in technicolor? This is because the light has to penetrate through to color screens and prisms before reaching the moving picture negative.

ZIEGFELD COMEDIAN ON PALACE BILL

The Jack Roberts Co., led by Jack Roberts himself, a comedian in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1925-26-27-28, comes to the Palace on the Sunday-Monday vaudeville bill, with the Valentine Twins, girl accordionists, opening the bill. The last act, "The Magic Fountain Revue," with a company of four girls and two men, was held over for a second week at the Uptown theater in Chicago.

On the screen will be Claudette Colbert and Fredric March in "Honor Among Lovers." Charlie Ruggles and Ginger Rogers are the featured players. This is the same team, Colbert and March, which handled "Manslaughter" so well.

Charles Ruggles, who frequently appears on the screen as an inebriate, "drinks" again in this picture—a mixture of burnt sugar and water. Frederic March when required to drink, demands ginger ale. Monroe Owsley likes sweetened tea that has been cut in color to resemble Scotch.

"The Seas Beneath" comes to the Marion, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, with favorable criticisms from all who have seen it. George O'Brien and Marion Lessing have the leading roles.

According to the official records, of the 200 German submarines captured or sunk during the World war, 11 were destroyed by "mystery ships" or "Q-ships," as they were sometimes called, and by 17 allied submarines.

The joint action of an American submarine and an American "mystery ship" in trapping one of the most famous German U-boats is the bases on which Director John Ford has created the climax of his romance of the allied struggle against the submarine menace.

Nearly 200 rounds of six-inch, five-inch and three-inch shells were fired during the making of the naval battle sequences of the picture.

In the cast is Ferdinand Schumann Heink, son of the noted opera singer, Ernestine Schumann Heink. Schumann Heink served in the 349th U. S. field artillery during the World War.

GREAT WAR PICTURE RETURNS TO CITY

"All Quiet on the Western Front," winner of the 1930 gold award of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Science as the greatest picture of the year, will play at the Princess theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

The picture needs no comment here. It has been in Marion before, and a picture so great as this one, needs no ballyhooing upon its return engagement.

WILLIAM POWELL IS MAN OF WORLD AT PALACE THEATER

Star Is Famous Blackmailer Living in Paris; Ends Different.

WILLIAM POWELL again crashes through with an entertaining picture, "Man of the World," closing at the Palace tonight. He's an American exile in Paris, hiding under an assumed name and earning a risky living by blackmailing American tourists. Wynne Gibson is his chief assistant, and in love with him.

He meets Carole Lombard, the niece of one of his "clients," and is talked into a blackmail scheme to involve her. Her fiance is called to London and Powell is accepted as her escort in his absence. He falls in love and she ditto

In trying to do the right thing in giving her up, he carries out his blackmail scheme involving her. You'll never guess how the picture ends. It has a "different" label, anyway

COMEDY CLOSES AT OHIO

"Divorce Among Friends," a comedy of present-day life, closes at the Ohio tonight. It's a light, airy, little farce with plenty of laughs and "big moments," contributed by James Hall, Lew Cody, Irene Delroy and Natalie Moorhead. This Moorhead woman is certainly the dangerous blond.

Ingratiating James Hall and pretty Irene Delroy are the bride and groom. Lew Cody thinks he's made a conquest of the bride, and gets the shock of his life when he finds out that she has used him only to win back her errant mate. He's rather a delicious comedian, Lew Cody.

Hall elopes with Miss Moorhead, with his wife and her woozy wooer, Cody, hidden in the back seat of the car. Lots of complications arise to add to the merriment.

GRAINS OPEN IRREGULARLY

Downward Drift Evident After Unsteady Opening in Chicago.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, March 28 — Downturns in grain prices today followed an irregular opening. Indications were lacking that any severe crop damage to domestic winter wheat had been done by low temperatures, and that rain and snow had greatly reduced moisture deficiency in this country and Canada. Starting at 3-8 cents off to 1-4 cent up wheat afterward underwent further declines. Corn opened 1-4 lower @ 1-4 higher and subsequently showed general setbacks.

Stock market weakness contributed at times to bearish action of wheat. Notice was taken also of reports that Russian shipments were likely to increase, even though dumping might be avoided. Bears contended, too, that despite prospects of government-sponsored domestic wheat holdings being held off the market indefinitely, the surplus would continue to act as a determent to any material advance in prices.

A further handicap to wheat bulls was word that Australia still had 100,000,000 bushels to dispose of and that this wheat must compete sharply in world market. It was added that millers were finding difficulty in selling Australian flour as against English flour made from cheap Russian wheat. Corn declined with wheat, and as a result of continued liberal receipts. Oats were neglected.

Provisions had a downward trend, paralleling hog values.

Proposed Law Eliminates Fees for Commissioners

Enactment Would Make Little Change in Compensation of Marion County Board Members; Income Now Averages $1,547 a Year.

Little change would be made in the salaries drawn by Marion county's three commissioners if the Smolka bill to abolish the fee system is passed by the state legislature.

The bill is on its way to the house after meeting with the approval of the committee on fees and salaries. Its author designed the bill to eliminate payment of a part of Ohio's county commissioners' compensation by the fee system.

Maximum $1,520

Under the bill commissioners here would receive an annual salary of $1,520, according to statistics compiled by the Associated Press. The salary is based on a tax duplicate for real estate of $56,796,940.

In the past the commissioners here received a fixed salary of $1,349 plus fees received from viewing county projects and conducting hearings. A check of county records showed that last year the commissioners received the following amounts: Wesley M. King and O. W. Kinnamon, $1,528.92 each, and O. C. McCurdy, $1,583.92. On an average the commissioners drew $1,547.25 each. In comparison with the compensation allowed under the new bill, the commissioners would receive $27.25 less.

The bill was introduced by Representative John Smolka, Democrat, of Cleveland. The proposed changes would not be effective until after the next election.

Old Method

The old method of payment is based partly on the real estate and personal tax duplicate but this measure limits the yardstick to the real estate valuation alone. In no case would a commissioner's salary exceed $6,000, which would be the amount paid to the commissioners of Cuyahoga county.

The fee system has been the object of attacks for many years. Many have held that the system should be declared unconstitutional in view of the fact that it gives commissioners a financial interest in the proceedings. The present law provides that commissioners cannot receive more than $20 in fees each on any one piece of business coming before them. Fees have been paid for viewing and holding hearings on county projects.

"KILLER" FRED BURKE AND CAPTORS

an overlapping brassiere

and all in a one-piece garment.

The girdle section of this Nemo-flex combination flattens out your stomach, for it's firmly boned and hooks snugly down the front. The brassiere section overlaps the girdle in front and, fastening at the side and hooking onto the girdle in front, it just smooths away diaphragm flesh.

The back of the garment is all in one piece. And with its clever boning and clever shaping, gives you that very-much-to-be-desired back flatness.

DEATH REMOVES TWO LEADERS OF BASEBALL

Careers of President and Former Head of American League Ended.

to a sport which, when he came to it, was headquartered in the back rooms of saloons.

His sense of showmanship and his iron rule enabled Byron Bancroft Johnson to see that baseball must be decent and well-ordered to be popular, and to eliminate the rowdyism which kept spectators away. He put the players on a contract basis. He lifted the morale of the sport by vesting absolute power in umpires to rule the conduct of the players on the field.

Johnson was destined for a legal career by the parents to whom he was born in Norwalk, O., in Jan., 1864. He went to Oberlin college, was a schoolmate at Marietta college of Charles G. Dawes, later vice president, and graduated in law at the University of Cincinnati. But he soon deserted the bar for newspaper work, and won recognition as a sport writer.

Charles A. Comiskey, then manager of the Cincinnati National league club, enlisted Johnson's help in a baseball venture and they organized the Western league in 1893. Seven years later they invaded the National league territory in the east and founded the American league, of which Johnson became president.

The two circuits warred for three years, and then at Johnson's behest signed an agreement creating an arbitration commission to settle disputes. In this Johnson long held the balance of power.

Routs Outlaw League

When the Federal league threatened to cleave major league baseball in 1913, Johnson led a successful war against it and baseball emerged as a permanent and established business

But the "fixed" Cincinnati-Chicago world series of 1919 aroused fear in the clubowners that the game would lose its appeal to the public, and they chose Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis as commissioner, doing away with the arbitration commission and depriving Johnson of some of his power. He and Landis clashed frequently.

When scandal charges involved the names of Ty Cobb and Tris speaker in 1926, Johnson incensed Landis by commenting publicly on the latter's handling of the allegations and the clubowners averted a threatened battle by giving Johnson a leave of absence.

"Stop, Traveler!"

By The Schaffner-Queen Co.

"Siste, viator"—or "Stop, traveler!"—are words that catch the wayfarer's eye, time after time, as he traverses the great military roads leading out of Rome, Italy.

They are the introductory words of inscriptions on ancient monuments which line the way. Here the warriors of more than twenty centuries ago lie buried, yet they still have the power to command attention and be obeyed—for, instinctively, the traveler stops, as he is bidden!

Perpetuation of the memory of those departed is the most effectual tribute that friends and relatives can render. They can do this in a number of ways, from the funeral appointments to the permanent memorial over the grave.

Those who are satisfied with only the best, should select a funeral director in whom they can place absolute faith—one who will be a reliable assistant and advisor in making the final tributes adequate and enduring.

This is the 22nd of a series of editorial advertisements appearing in this paper each Saturday.

There Is Nothing New Under the Sun, Will Says When He Learned Chinese Tried Prohibition Centuries Ago

They Attempted To Prevent Officials Drinking and It Failed.

BY WILL ROGERS

WELL all I know is just what I read in the papers. But tonight I found out a lot of things without reading em. Bill, our eldest White Hope, had a friend that just come back from some expedition over in China with some College Boys, from Pomona College, of Pomona, Cal. And say, by the way, that is one of the best Colleges in this whole Country, they are constantly grooming it for "The Oxford of America."

Well these boys had taken a lot of Movies of their trip and he just brought em up to the Ranch tonight and run them, and he told us a lot about China. Well China was having some Liquor Pains, and they decided that the trouble with the Country was that the Officials of the Government was doing too much drinking. So they passed em an Amendment, just exactly two thousand years before Andy Volstead got his brilliant idea. So they passed it to keep the Officials from drinking, then nobody would be an Official, they would rather have the drink than the job.

So they not having a Democratic and Republican Party that was both afraid to say where they stood, in those days you stood where you stood. So they started in having trouble with Bootleggers. Just think of that, and here we thought we had the original Bootlegger problem.

Better To Be "Dumb"

Well along come the "Progressives" and held a Convention and decided to amend the Constitution, and put the Liquor back with Rice as a National Commodity. So China really had all this fuss that we are having away back before Confucious time. That old Confucious must have been quite a fellow, he was so smart they are just now figuring out what he really meant. But he dident get so far in his day, he had to die to make the Boys believe it. It dont do a fellow much good to be too far ahead of his time. Its better that he be a little Dumber and stay along with the times.

How quick a college boy can find out the world is wrong.

He showed us Movies of that great Chinese wall. It was a good deal like the ones the Republicans erected last year by the Architects, Hawley and Reed Smoot. China wanted to keep out her enemies, and Smoot and Hawley wanted to keep out our friends, and also keep our stuff in.

We keep out everything, unless it is owned by some rich Americans that want to bring it in, then the tariff don't hold. Take oil for instance. You can't bring in wheat, corn, cotton, or any of those in competition with our own, but Oil, you can. You can bring it in from Venzeula, or any other place, and knock ours out. Why? Well that's because it's owned by Americans who are richer and more influential than the ones that have Independent Oil Companies over here, but no foreign oil.

Great Old Line

Our Alabi is that "It is saving our Oil." That's just like shipping in foreign Autos, saying we want to save the ones we make, they might all wear out. But never mind that. That won't be changed as long as the Republicans stay in there, so we better just let that drop.

This Boy said that China along about two or three hundred A. D. (After Democrats) that China had the first League of Nations, that China was a lot of small Nations, and that they formed an exact League of Nations like the one that had the 14 points, and Lodge didn't like any of 'em. Well, they decided that that would be a good way to prevent war, they first got the two biggest ones to sign it, saying they wouldn't fight each other. But they didn't say that they wouldn't join together and fight somebody else, so that scared the little ones till they thought they had to join for protection, and they all met and made out a Covenant, and it worked for a little while till they all got back on their feet from the last war and got armed for the next one, then some Lawyer found a flaw in it, and his country, which was one of the original signers, and the big one, they went out and defended their honor against some small ones, till they took 'em over, and the breaking up of the League of Chinese Nations was the start of the Chinese Empire. The League worked fine till they found out that the only way you can annex

Now Morrow has gone over to Europe to tell England and France and Italy that the Treaty they made with each other is Null and void, as far as we are concerned. See a lawyer has found a flaw in it. So from what I hear folks say and what I read, it just looks like China had the original idea of about everything that we had ever done and thought it was new.

Photography was one of theirs, so they are really responsible for Hollywood Printing, Gunpowder Kimonas, Pajamas in the day time worn by both men and Women. This Boy says that most all the Revolutionary trouble over there starts in the Colleges among the Students. Well ours over here does too, but one good Cop with a Club can generally quell it.

Its funny how quick a College Boy can find out that the World is wrong. He might go out in the World from High School and live in it, and make a living in it for years and think it wasent such a bad place, but let him go to College and he will be the first one down on the Square on May Day to shout down with the Government. Course not all of em, but there is getting more and more, but soon as they grow up and go out and if they happen to make anything why they backslide, and he says it the same over there.

Well one great thing about China they dont bother nobody but themselves, they sure dont go off hunting trouble like all us "Civilized" Nations Commission some time (that goes all over the world to investigate everybody's business) and go see it.

Marion Church Services To Mark Opening of Holy Week

All Local Congregations To Observe Palm Sunday

Good Friday To End Period of Mourning; Services Planned.

"NOW from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour.

"And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani? that is to say, My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken Me?" Matt. 27:45-46.

"Jesus when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost.

"And behold, the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom; and the earth did quake and the rocks rent." Matt. 27:50-51.

The period of mourning in St. Mary's Catholic church, symbolized in the veiling of the statues and crosses last Sunday will be lifted Good Friday, when the unveiling takes place at veneration of the Cross and mass of the pre-sanctified at 8 a. m.

St. Mary's services, most impressive in their ceremony, are but one in several to be held over the city on Good Friday.

Union Services

Union Good Friday services of the uptown protestant churches will be held in First Presbyterian church at Church and Prospect streets from 12 noon until 3 p. m.

Three Hour devotions will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church at the same hours. Rev. S. S. Hardy, pastor, has asked that those who do not remain for the full three hours enter or leave during the singing of a hymn, in accordance with the devout and considerate custom of disturbing as little as possible those who are at prayer. Holy baptism services will be administered at 4:30 p. m. on Saturday.

Bringing to a close his weeks of Lenten services and meditation, Rev. James W. Schillinger, pastor of Emanuel's Lutheran church, will preach Friday at 7:30 p. m. on "The Eternal Song in Glory, Redeemed by Thy Blood." His sermon will be based on Rev. 1:5-6.

During Friday at St. Mary's Catholic church, a relic of the True Cross will be unveiled for veneration. The memorial is the property of Rev. Fr. William J. Spickerman, pastor, and was presented him by a dignitary of the church.

Way of the Cross and a sermon by Father Spickerman on "The Passion of Christ," will be Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Saturday morning beginning with services at 7:30, will be the blessing of the Easter candle, blessing of the baptismal water and the reading of the prophecies referring to the divinity of Christ, followed by high mass.

Rev. Wood to Preside

Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor of Trinity Baptist church will preside at the union services at First Presbyterian church. Rev. G. G. Canfield, pastor of First Church of the Brethren will be in charge of the music.

Six pastors from Marion churches will deliver short sermons on the general theme, "The Way of the Cross." Rev. B. Tyler Gates, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran church will deliver the scripture reading and Rev. W. Martell George of Wesley M. E. church will offer prayer.

The six ministers who will deliver the sermons are Rev. Karl W. Patow, pastor of the Prospect Street M. E. church, Rev. J. E. Davidson, pastor of First Church of the Nazarene, Rev. H. E. Williamson, pastor of Oakland Evangelical church, Rev. LeRoy Deininger, past of Grace Evangelical church, Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor or Epworth M. E. church and Rev. Carl V. Roop, pastor of First United Brethren church.

The observance of the Lord's Supper will be under the direction of Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, pastor of the host church. The closing prayer will be offered by Rev. Paul H. Bourquin, pastor of Salem Evangelical church. Mrs. H. T. Williams, church organist, will play the prelude and postlude.

Sermon Topics

The sermon topics for the service, and the minister who will speak are given below:

Rev. Patow, "The Preparation of the Way;" Rev. Davidson, "The Burden of the Way;" Rev. Williamson, "The Light of the Way;" Rev. Deininger, "The Companion of the Way;" Dr. Turley, "The Joy of the Way;" Rev. Roop, "The End of the Way."

The Marion County Ministerial association, under whose auspices the services will be held has requested that those attending for the three hours occupy front seats in the church and those attending for a part of the services to occupy seats close to the exits. The association has urged that persons feel free to attend part time.

The offering which will be taken will be used by the association to defray expenses connected with the service and to carry on charitable work.

Rev. George E. Groves, pastor of Central Christian church is evangelism in the committee on evongelism in the Ministerial association. Rev. E. Radebaugh, of Calvary Evangelical church, Rev. Karl W. Patow of the Prospect Street M. E. church and Rev. C. W. Sultzbach of Prospect are members of the committee.

Rev. Canfield is closing his evangelistic services at First Church of the Brethren with communion services Good Friday night.

Rev. H. F. Weckmueller of First Reformed church is holding a preparatory service for communion, Good Friday at 7:30 p. m.

Christ's Triumphant Entry into Jerusalem Occasion for Christian Rejoicing.

"AND many spread their garments in the way: and others cut down branches off the trees, and strewed them in the way.

"And they that went before, and they that followed, cried, saying, 'Hosanna; Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord:'

"Blessed be the kingdom of our father David, that cometh in the name of the Lord: Hosanna in the highest." St. Mark, 11:8-10.

Palm Sunday, commemorating Christ's triumphant entry into Jerusalem, heralds Holy Week observances in Marion churches, Union Good Friday services of Protestant churches, the Tre Or services in St. Mary's Catholic church on Good Friday and three-hour Good Friday services at St. Paul's Episcopal church. Many of the outlying churches of the city will also observe Holy Week and Good Friday with special services.

Services in Marion churches Sunday, include confirmation of classes, baptismal rites, review of lessons for the quarter, reception of new members and at Epworth M. E. church. Mendelssohn's beautiful "The Elijah," will be sung Sunday night by a chorus of 100 voices.

Catholic Services

Special sermons will be preached in Marion pulpits, all relative to Palm Sunday and Holy Week, and leading up to the Eastern services.

Leading up to Good Friday and the undraping of the statues and crosses in St. Mary's Catholic church will be special services and masses beginning Sunday morning. Regular masses will be sung at 6:30, 8 and 9:30 a. m., with blessing and distribution of the palms and at 11 high mass will be solemnized with Rev. Fr. William J. Spickerman, pastor, as celebrant.

Wednesday and Saturday afternoons and nights in Holy week will be given over to confessional periods.

On Maundy Thursday, the services will open with high mass at 8 a. m. and solemn processional to the repository. The doors of St. Mary's church will be open to worshippers all during the day for pilgrimages to the repository. At 7:30 p. m. Eucharist, rosary and other services of thanksgiving will be celebrated.

Lutheran Program

Holy Week will be celebrated by Emanuel's Lutheran church with four special services, at each of which the history of the sufferings and death of the Savior will be read and an appropriate sermon will be delivered by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Schillinger. The choir will sing special numbers.

"They Overcome Him with the Blood of the Lamb," will be the theme of the Tuesday night sermon, based on Rev. 12:7-11. The text for the Wednesday night sermon on "Our Boldness to Enter into the Holiest by the Blood of Christ," has been taken from Hebrews 10:19.

Holy communion will be celebrated on Thursday night following a sermon on the theme, "Our Sure Covenant with God in the Blood of Jesus," from Matt. 26:28.

Pre-Easter services will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights at Trinity Baptist church, with Rev. Lawrence A. Wood, pastor ,in charge. His sermon topics for the three services are as follows: Wednesday, "With Christ on the Way to Calvary"; Thursday, "The First Communion"; Friday, 'He Died For Me."

These services will be in preparation for Easter and will be held at 7:30 p. m. with prayer service preceding at 7 p. m. Tuesday at 7:30 p. m., an adult instruction class will be held at the church for those who are preparing for baptism and union with the church. Rev. Wood will conduct the class.

Holy week at St. Paul's English Lutheran church will consist of four sermons on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights, with the following subjects in consecutive order: "Father forgive them for they know not what they do"; 'Today thou shalt be with me in Paradise"; "It is Finished"; "Father into Thy hand I commend my Spirit." Services will be held at 7:30 p. m. each night at the church with the pastor, Rev. B. Tyler Gates, preaching.

St. Paul's Services

Services at St. Paul's Episcopal church on Palm Sunday will be particularly impressive. The Procession of Palms will begin with the processional hymn. This procession is held only once each year and is symoblic of the spreading of the palms before Christ on his entrance to Jerusalem.

Holy Communion will be administered at 7:30 a. m., following by church school at 10:30 a. m., Procession of Palms, mattins, litany and sermon at the same hour. Holy Week services on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, will be at 7:30 p. m., with littany. Passion reading and penitential office in the chapel.

On Maunday Thursday, the Biblical day in which the Last Supper was instituted, and Jesus was betrayed by Judas, Holy Communion services will be held at 7 a. m. Litany, Passion reading and penitential office will be in the chapel at 7:30 p. m.

A morning watch service in charge of the Harding Hi-Y and Girl Reserve clubs will be held Monday, Tuesady, Wednesday and Thursday mornings during Holy week, at 7:45 a. m. at First Presbyterian church. Th place of the meetings was changed from Central Christian church to the Presbyterian church. Entrance will be made at the Church street door. Half-hour devotional services of songs, prayer and short talks will be held, to which the public is invited.

Palm Sunday services at Salem Evangelical church include confirmation services and a confirmation class union at the Sunday night service. The eight members of the class are Charles Keller, Earl Bourquin, Wayne Eibling, Eileen Reinwald, Walter Lloyd, Robert Henning, Lloyd Strawser and Bertha Rech.

Rev. Bourquin's Subject

Rev. Paul H. Bourquin, pastor, will preach in the morning on "Jesus Knocking at the Door." The reception of the class into the church will follow an impressive service of song, confession of faith and vows, and prayer.

The Three M class of the church will be in charge of the class reunion at 7:30 p. m. Miss Grace Koenig is the teacher, Mrs. C. Reiff is president, Miss Violet Soulier is secretary and Miss Evelyn Croman is treasurer.

Rev. W. L. Bretz of Columbus will preach the sermon on "Palm Sunday—Triumph and Tears." The roll call of classes will be held. A quartet, including Arthur Creasap, Paul Lill, Ray Lill and Leroy Snyder will sing, and Miss Edena Koenig will sing a solo.

Children will be presented for baptism Sunday morning at Epworth M. E. church, and the children will be assembled at the altar for reception into full membership in the church. G. W. Bacon, superintendent of the Sunday school, will present the class. Vows of membership will be taken and Dr. C. E. Turley, pastor, will offer a prayer of consecration. His morning sermon will be on "The Place of the Church in Our Modern Life." The midweek services, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., will be in keeping with the Holy Week. Dr. Turley will preach on "Precious Cross — It's Vicarious Meaning."

Communion Services

Rev. J. A. Carriker will hold communion services and the Lord's Supper Sunday at 10:40 a. m. at Forest Lawn Presbyterian church. The morning sermon will be on "The Memorial of Our Salvation." The church will not hold services Sunday night in order that the members and choir may hear "The Elijah" at Epworth M. E. church. Beginning Easter Sunday the Sunday night services will be at 7:30 p. m. and the young people's meetings at 6:30 p. m.

Confirmation services will be held Sunday at 10:30 a. m. at the Prospect Street M. E. church, with Rev. Karl W. Patow, pastor, presiding. The scholars graduating from a catechetical instruction class and enrolled in the confirmation class are Josephine Ruth, Lena Von Endt, Lillian Risch, Warren Diehl, John Wilhelm and Robert Wanner.

Rev. Albert Slack, pastor of the Asbury M. E. church will preach Sunday at 7 p. m. on "The Triumphant Christ." Rev. Carl V. Roop of First United Brethren church has selected "Christ Triumphant" as his sermon for Palm Sunday night. Wednesday at 7:15 p. m. he will give an illustrated lecture on "The Life of Christ."

Rev. James M. Fisher, director of the Lee Street Presbyterian church will preach Sunday at 7 p. m. on "Palm Sunday."

N. Y. PASTOR TO PREACH

Rev. Francis William Cox, pastor of the Pilgrim Holiness church at Binghamton, N. Y., will preach at the First church here Sunday at 11 a. m., 2:30 and 7 p. m. Among the subjects he will preach from are "The Baptism of the Holy Ghost and Beneficial Effects," "God's Emergency Provisions," "Bread Cast Upon the Waters," "The Efficiency of God's Grace" and "The Lame Take the Prey." He will also preach Monday at 7:30 p. m. The meetings will be open to the public.

REVIVAL TO OPEN

Special evangelistic services will open Sunday at Oakland Evangelical church. Services will be held each night in the week at 7:30 p. m., with Rev. H. E. Williamson, pastor, preaching. Dr. H. V. Summers of Akron will arrive on Tuesday, April 7, and will preach each night of that week.

SERVICES WELL ATTENDED

The "Know Jesus Better" services at the Church of the Brethren were well attended this week, Rev. G. G. Canfield, pastor, said today. Next week Rev. Karl W. Patow, pastor of the Prospect Street M. E. church will preach on Monday, Rev. C. W. Black of Agosta will preach on Tuesday, and Rev. Canfield will hold his own services on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights.

SPIRITUALISTIC SERVICE

The First Spiritualist church of Bucyrus has announced a rally Sunday, with eight visiting mediums of note as guests to assist in giving lectures and messages. The services will be at 2 and 7:15 p. m., with a supper at the church from 5 to 6:30 p. m. Ballot reading and oral messages will be features of the rally.

ORCHESTRA PROGRAM

The orchestra of First Presbyterian Sunday school will play Sunday at 9:30 a. m. The program includes a flute solo, "Caprice," Howe, by L. B. McNeal, and the following three numbers by the orchestra: Overture, "Morning, Noon and Night in Vienna," Von Suppe; "Easter Chimes," Lake, and a march, "The Black Horse Troop," Sousa.

TO PREACH HERE

Rev. Willis Stump of Columbus will preach in the revival meeting at the Pentecostal church on Hoyle street Sunday. He will preach each night next week.

The Black Hills of South Dakota, where Calvin Coolidge spent a summer vacation when president, are believed to have great undiscovered deposits of gold.

On Church Membership

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. J. A. CARRIKER

Pastor Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church.

THE christian church was called into existence by Christ. A local church is a group of people who have taken Christ as their Saviour, and have organized for their own spiritual progress and the bringing of that same great salvation to others.

The church was called into operation not for people whose lives are perfect (there are no such people), but for sinners who have taken Christ as their Saviour and, trusting in Him, are "working out their own salvation with fear and trembling."

Anyone is good enough to join Christ's church who is wise enough to accept His salvation.

Christ taught his disciples to make an open confession of Him in order to assure their salvation. The church is your opportunity to make such an open confession of your Saviour through all your days.

"If thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine heart that God hath raised Him from the dead, thou shalt be saved?"

First Reformed Church To Conduct Special Services

Sunday School Quarterly Review, Confirmation and Class Reunion Included in Busy Schedule; Heidelberg College Deputation Team To Participate.

A review of the 12 quarterly lessons will be made in the Sunday school service at First Reformed church Sunday. At the church hour confirmation services will be held with Rev. H. F. Weckmueller, pastor, in charge. At night a confirmation class reunion will be held with a program by the Heidelberg college deputation team.

Six members of the Sunday school, A. C. Queen, Mrs. William Morganthaler, Ray Reidenbaugh, Mrs. Clarence Weber, Aaron Goerlich and W. E. Bartholomew will review two lessons each, before a combined meeting of the senior and adult classes.

Fred Sinning and Miss Dora Jacobs will sing the verses of "Saved by Grace" and the chorus will be sung by a quartet including Miss Jacobs, Miss Ruth Jacobs, Mr. Sinning and Herbert Goedicke. The quartet will sing "In the Garden," and the Misses Jacobs will sing "Unanswered Yet." The quartet will sing "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Between the numbers, Mrs. Earl Houser, chorister, will give incidents in the life of Moody on "Answered Prayer." After Mr. Queen's lesson review, his daughter, Mary Elizabeth will sing "The Boy Jesus in the Temple," accompanied at the piano by her Marguerite. Helen and M Zeller will sing "The Golden of Lesson," "In that He Hims hath suffered, being tempted is able to succor them that tempted," after Mrs. Morga thaler's review.

Robert Koehler and Joe P are the two members to be confirmed in the church hour. The choir will sing "The Palms."

Invitations have been sent all members of classes confirmed by Rev. Weckmueller since he began his ministry here in 19 Members of the classes have been selected chairmen as follows: Miss Ellen Sechrest, '24; Delmar K leda, '25; Robert Sollinger, '26; M Dorothy Zieg, '27; Miss Martha Klehm, '28; Miss Dorothy Conk '29, and Miss Margaret Heiser '3

Other groups confirmed before Rev. Weckmueller's pastorate will be represented. A roll call of the confirmation classes will be made. The young people's services will be combined with the Sunday night services.

ANNOUNCE SERVICE

Waldo Churches Will Join Sunrise Easter Observance

WALDO, March 28—Easter sunrise service will be held at Waldo on Easter Sunday morning. The services are to be held in the park but in case of inclement weather they will be held at the M. E. church.

The program will last about 45 minutes. The three churches of the community will join together in the services. A curfew will be sounded at 5:45 a. m. and will last for five minutes.

PRESENT PLAYLET

Prospect Missionary Group Holds Program Session.

PROSPECT, March 28—The Missionary circle of the Baptist church met at the home of Mrs. John Middlemiss Thursday afternoon. The meeting opened with a song. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Angie Mohr.

Mrs. John Jones presided for the lesson which was in the form of a playlet taken from the text book. Those who assisted Mrs. Jones were: Mrs. John Q. Penry, Mrs. A. Emberton, Mrs. O. A. Beery, Mrs. Don Bumgartner, Mrs. Charles Hollenbach, Mrs. E. A. Kimmel and Mrs. C. E. Almendinger.

Those on committee for the social hour and refreshments were Mrs. John Middlemiss, Mrs. Newton Mounts, Mrs. George Thomas, Mrs. Guy Hoffman and Mrs. William Powell.

Guests were Mrs. Paul Johnson and son, Mrs. Jane Gabriel, Mrs. E. O. Jones and Mary Jane Thomas. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Emery Roberts.

Plan To Test Broadcasting Plan Granted

By Brush-Moore Leased Wire.

ANOTHER synchronization experiment was authorized by the federal radio commission today. The purpose of these experiments is to improve the reception for the large radio audience.

Under this new plan are radio stations WHP of Harrisburg, WCAH of Columbus, WHEC of Rochester and WOKO of Albany, all of which will carry programs of the Columbia broadcasting system in the experiments. If engineers find that the four stations operate satisfactorily together, they will attempt, no doubt, to increase the number until the dream of an entire network on the same channel is realized.

"The Completion of the Naval Treaty" will be the subject of an address by Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson over the Columbia network Saturday at 9:30 p. m.

Secretary Stimson's address will be the first public statement regarding the agreement which, within the last few weeks, has been reached by France, Italy and Great Britain with regard to the naval building programs of France and Italy.

IT'S A FACT — Realizing that studio surroundings had much to do with the timidness of radio speakers, NBC engineers have arranged a new studio to end this nervousness. The new studio has been equipped with beautiful rugs, beamed ceilings, brocaded walls, English casement windows, electrically-glowing fireplace, brilliantly-flowered curtains, floor and table lamps, mahogany and walnut furniture of the old English style, and best of all, the microphone has been concealed somewhat.

Songs of the romantic type, ranging from the lusty humor of the Russian "Nichavo" to the brief and tender pathos of "homing" will be presented by Dennis King, motion picture and musical comedy star, as guest artist on the Garden Party hour Sunday afternoon. The program, seventh in a series of 13 weekly broadcasts, comes over the NBC-WEAF network at 4·30 p. m

The first radio performance of Sir Elgar's famous oratorio, "The Apostles," will be given in two parts by the National Oratorio society, beginning Sunday at 1 p. m., over the NBC-WEAF network. The second part of the play will be presented Easter Sunday, April 5.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, March 29

SUNDAY'S HOROSCOPE shows very auspicious conditions for affairs of church, state and philanthropy and also holds promise of advancement or preferment for those in employment. It is a good time for such recognition or favors and also a desirable time for all mystical, spiritual or secret activities.

Those whose birthday it is are at the threshold of a year of excellent promise of promotion, preferment or favors from employers or those in posts of authority. New projects, secret agreements and financial matters all are in prospect of flourishing and bringing advantage. A child born on this day should be well equipped in qualities and talents for excellent success in employment, with finances or in those projects requiring diplomacy or stratagem. It should attain high position in life.

For Monday, March 30

MONDAY'S ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST is for an eventful day with important and sudden change of far-reaching effect on the life and environment. It may affect the personal affiliations, with important reactions on the social and intellectual life, but may prove detrimental or hazardous to employment. Minor delays or depressions should be set aside in the face of the most propitious auguries.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a very important and propitious year, with desirable change and opportunity and enhanced social and intellectual opportunities. There may be perils to employment, but minor depressions and trivial upsets should be subdued under the entirely optimistic forecast. A child born on this day should be versatile, brilliant and creative in many lines of endeavor. It may also be socially and intellectually gifted although it may encounter some small hostility in the employment of others. Its career should be eventful and brilliant.

SINGERS ON TOUR

Ohio Wesleyan Group Begins Nine-Day Trip in Six States.

Practical and Simple

Sheer Frock for Easter.

PATTERN 2103

Short sleeves are firmly established in the new mode, but nowhere are they lovelier than on the sheer prints worn under Spring coats. The model sketched is quite simple, relying on its flared and scalloped short sleeves, and its graceful godets for smartness. Tiny tucks at shoulders and back neck insure perfect fit. The soft fabric bow at the low neckline, adds a feminine touch in pert manner. Patern 2103 is charming made of georgette, batiste, voile, Elizabeth or flat crepe.

May be obtained only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 requires 3⅞ yards of 39 inch material.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

Daily Proverb—"Send not a hatchet with which to break open an egg."

The state senate has placed its O K on the bill for a state board to examine and license barbers, which leads to visions of more jobs to add to the drain upon the state.

Senators Borah and Norris are urging that congress should boost income taxes. How typically "progressive!" The radicals may always be depended upon to play to the greatest possible number of votes.

There's an old saying to the effect that it never rains but it pours, and in this connection it may be noted that Uncle Sam has started a graft inquiry calculated to show collusion between New York City's speakeasies and its police department.

Joseph Levenson, Republican leader of the First assembly district of New York told a New York City gathering that Rev. Norman Thomas and Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, outstanding critics of Mayor Walker, were largely responsible for the mayor's reelection. Assuming that the charge may be well founded, is it generous to throw up to these reverend gentlemen their mistakes?

And now Paris proposes a "customs union" aimed at Berlin. We are gradually getting to know the real cause of the French outburst against the Austro-German proposal. France resents the Teutonic initiation because it was not her own.

The flow of immigrants into the United States has been reduced eighty-six per cent. by the restrictions put into effect last fall by President Hoover, according to a White House announcement, 100,000 aliens having been barred by our consular officials within the last five months. It will be hard to figure out where his radical critics can censure the President for this.

There's a bill pending in the Pennsylvania house to control "ghost" writing by requiring that the name of the real writer of a story be given equal prominence when it is published with that of the person who is held out as its writer. Looks like a deliberate attempt to show up our movie stars and champions in the field of athletics.

Our Diliatory Senate.

From Geneva comes word that the failure of the United States to ratify the protocol against the use of gas or bacteria in time of war, concerning which Sir Eric Drummound, secretary-general of the League of Nations, communicated with Washington, some days ago, has not only occasioned surprise, but has also led to the development of a bad impression, which is the more marked owing to the fact that the ban upon the use of gas was proposed by an American delegate, the late Senator Theodore Burton. As Geneva puts it: America forced the gas agreement upon the League and now refuses to give it ratification. The agreement was signed in 1925 and now, after six years, Senator Borah, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, as stated in these columns several days ago, explains that it yet lacks the approval of his committee.

Here in the United States, of course, the situation is understood. There are elements here, with powerful lobbies, which would have the United States helpless before attack either from within or without. Some of these elements are opposed to our form of government, some of them are opposed to any form of government worthy the name and some are just naturally made up of lunkheads who have deluded themselves into the belief that the surest way to prevent attack is to be unprepared and helpless; that helplessness is the strongest safeguard against attack, and that there is never going to be another war anyway, so what's the use of arming or entering into pacts against the use of any particular agency for war so long as there isn't going to be any war? Two of these elements would have us unprepared, no matter to what extent the rest of the world is arming. The third element may be good enough at heart, their chief lack being that of head.

Then there's another factor which is in part explanatory for a delay which can hardly be classed as other than wilful. The senate has been mighty busy worrying over all the ills, real and imaginary, to which humanity is heir, and to be sure of ground for worry has created a number of new ones. And what is true of the senate as a body is very largely true of its foreign relations committee. In fact, the roster of that committee in the seventy-first congress showed the names of some of the busiest little workers in the senatorial body, many of them with axes of their own to grind.

In any event, the League of Nations may rest assured that this country very generally is just as much grieved that its senate is what it is as it, the League, possibly can be.

A Danger in International Loans.

There should be closer collaboration of creditor countries in perfecting international financial operations, for operations of this nature, while beneficial in the main, are not wholly without some menace.

Such is the view expressed this week by August Zalesk., for almost five years foreign minister of Poland, who is credited with having done much by his moderating policies toward stabilizing peace in northeastern Europe.

Mr. Zaleski does not see menace in the possibility that the proceeds of international loans may be utilized in preparedness looking to war. He does not touch upon that possibility. He strikes a newer note than that. The possible danger he sees in such loans is that which may result in time of peace. By way of illustration, he cites the extensive borrowings made by European lands in American money markets in recent years. He frankly admits that there isn't a doubt but what the circulation of great amounts of capital raised by European loans floated in the United States constituted an important factor in the economic development of a number of European states by placing in the hands of the borrowing countries more purchasing power and enabling them to increase their purchasing power through new investments.

"But in some cases," the Polish statesman goes on to say, though conceding all this, "we observe that the loans assist the countries in nationalizing and developing their industries without properly considering the problem of marketing their products. This was probably caused by looking at foreign bond flotations from the viewpoint of their security and not the effect they would have on the world market at large, and on the borrowing country in particular."

Too large sums loaned to single countries, it is explained, may cause an overgrowth of production in those countries, and in the long run may become a source of danger rather than a benefit, which forces the conclusion that countries able to lend money during times of crisis should exercise the utmost carefulness in so doing.

Having thus diagnosed the case, Mr. Zaleski prescribes what he considers the best remedy by voicing his belief that central authorities should be created to see that loand bonds are placed in accordance with a general plan which should have for its basis, apart from the security of investments, "comparatively equal distribution of capital in order not to increase the overgrowth of production in some countries at the expense of others."

There may be decided merit in this Polish plan. We confess that we are not sufficiently versed in matters of finance or closely enough in touch with the European economic situation to speak advisedly. Beyond a doubt, many international loans are floated which ultimately work to the disadvantage of both the creditor and the debtor nations, and it no doubt would be well for creditor countries to collaborate before becoming parties to them, as suggested. But this manifest objection to the "comparatively equal distribution of capital" obtrudes: it would have a tendency to hold all nations of any general class to the level of the nation in that class which had the least initiative and was the least progressive. There is a marked tendency on the part of some elements here in the United States to do that with individuals. We doubt that the plan would be any more desirable in the cases of nations than it is for individual applicaton.

Talking about news novelties, a textile corporation in Manchester, New Hampshire, as the result of large orders, is advertising for operators.

Tammany Hall has warned Governor Roosevelt, of New York, that it will consider it an "unfriendly act" if he refers the charges against Mayor Walker, of New York City, to the legislative investigating committee. It will be interesting to note how the governor reacts to what is virtually Tammany's threat.

A fourteen-year-old Los Angeles boy who is more than six feet tall and weighs 235 pounds objects to his father's proposal that he be treated to stop his growth, expressing the fear that the treatment may affect him mentally. To a man on the fence, the father would seem in greater need of treatment than the boy, but not necessarily to the same end.

Dr. Herbert Adams Gibbons, of Princeton university, urges the United States to give the Philippines to Japan. It may be said for the doctor's idea that comparatively few view the islands as an asset and that those who see in them a liability are legion.

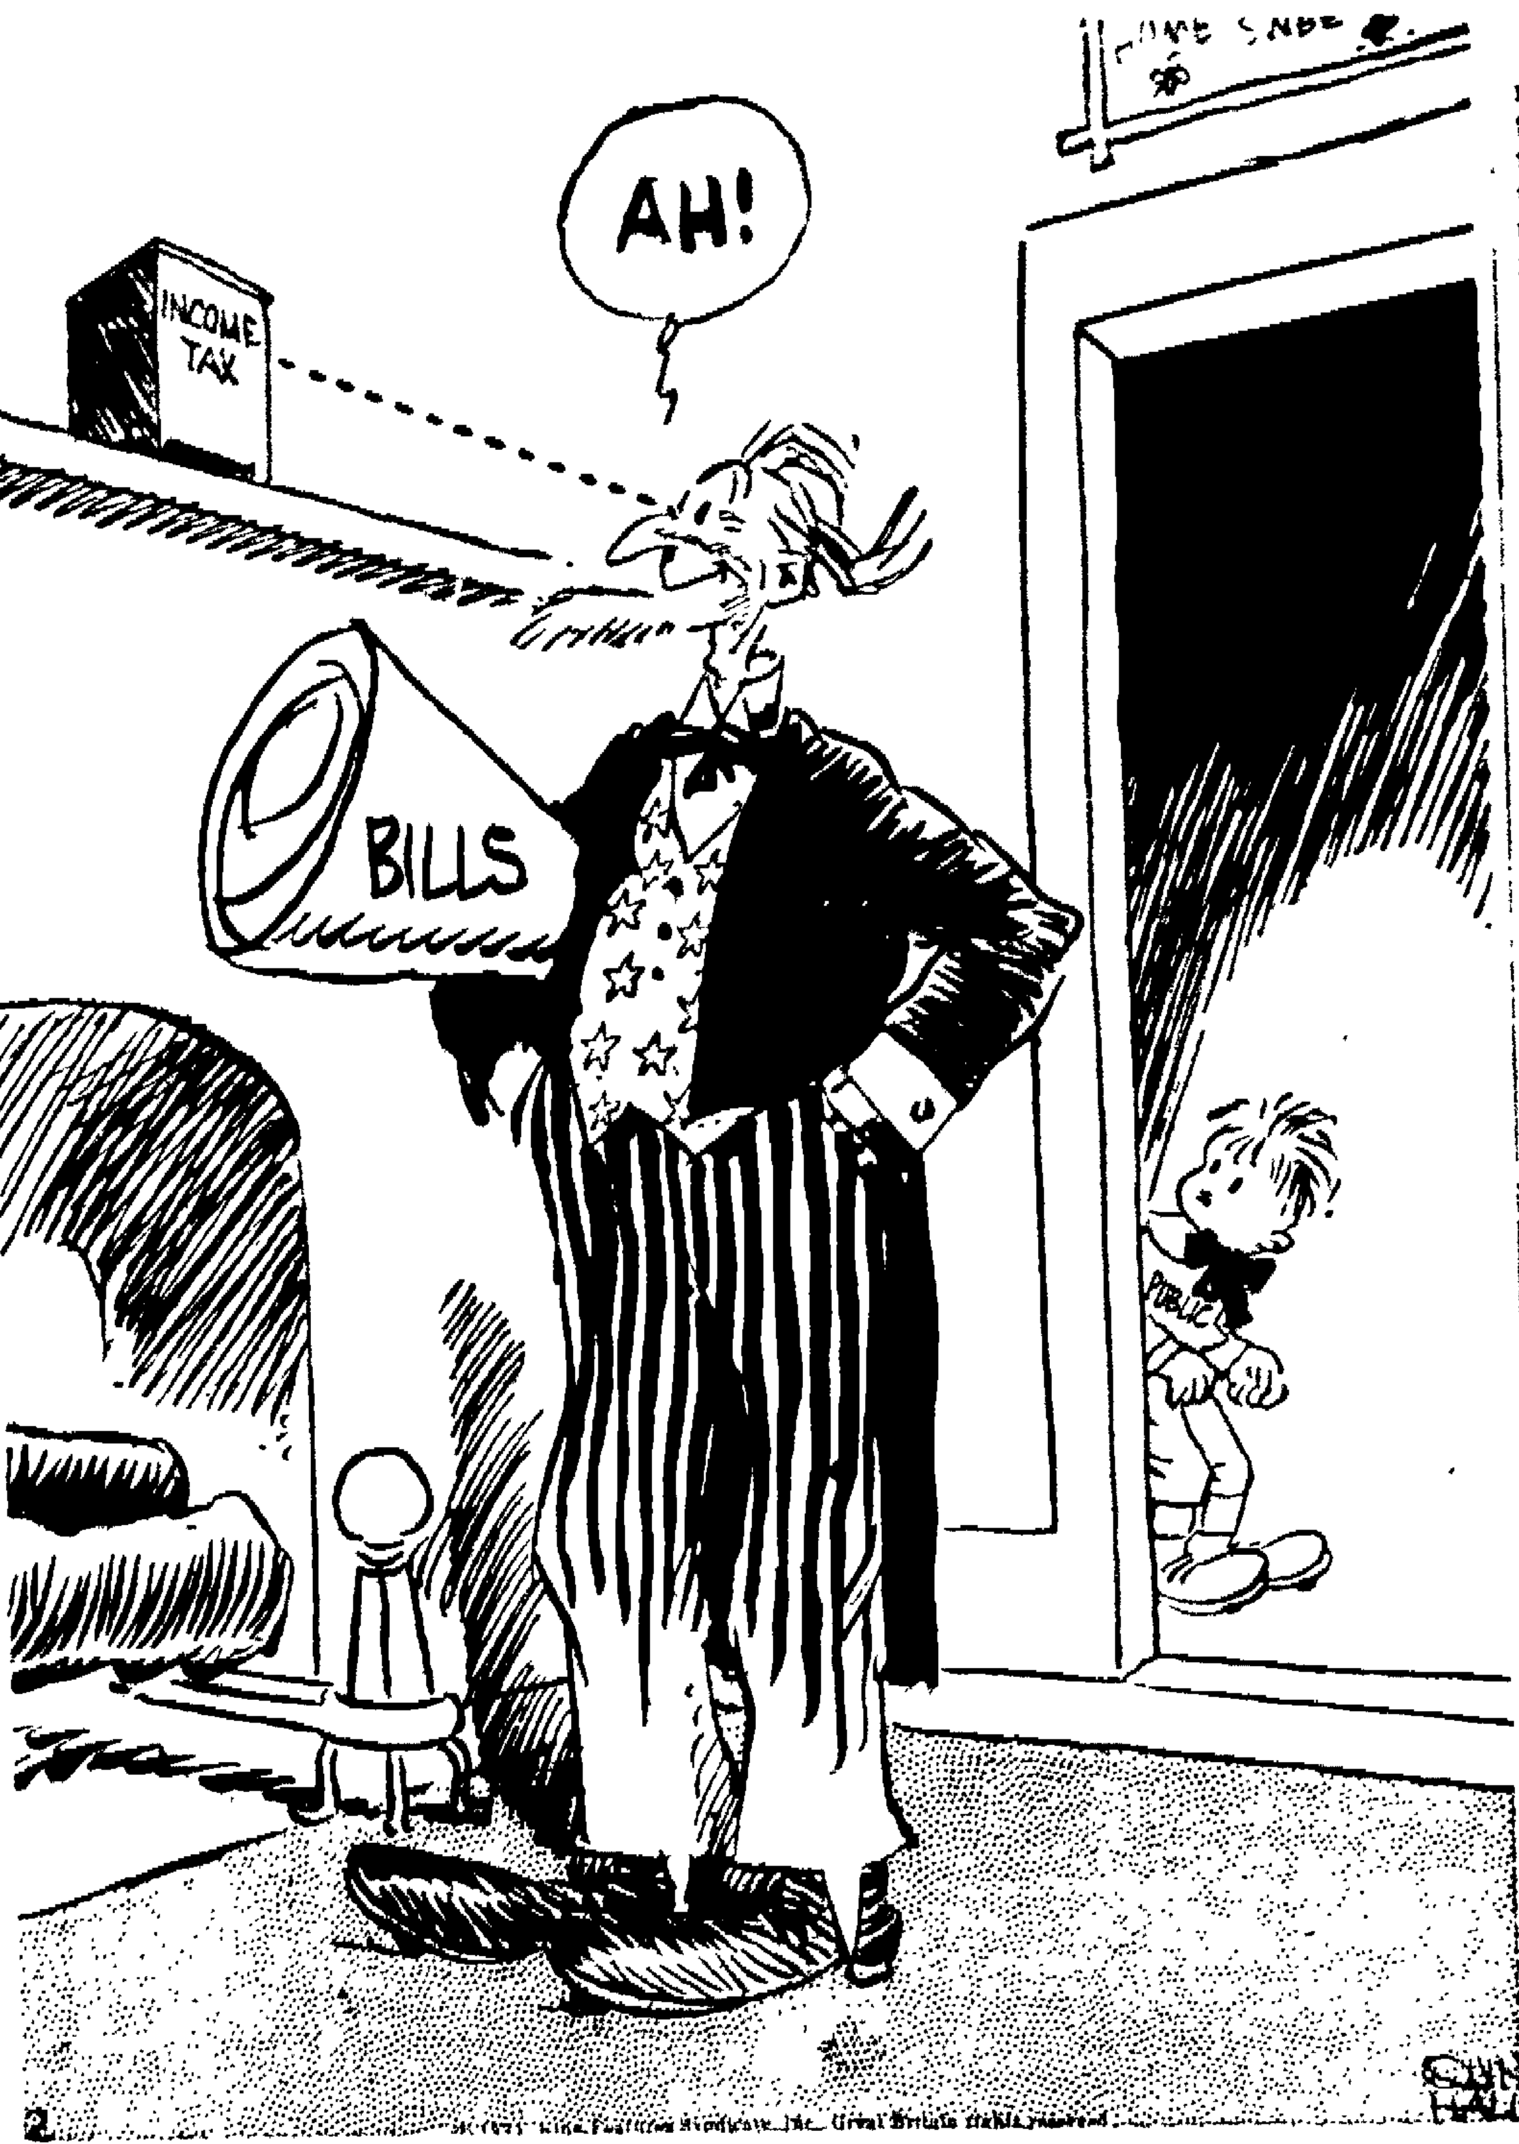
Three kegs of beer confiscated out in Canton, Illinois, sealed by the sheriff there last Sunday and locked up in a cell to be held as evidence, were found to be empty Tuesday. It's simply amazing how often evidence of that kind has dwindled and passed away in confinement.

Senator Jones, of Washington, charges that Democratic Chairman Jouett Shouse is attacking President Hoover as a smokescreen to cover up Tammany's shortcoming. Well, that kind of a stunt has often been staged in the past, but Jouett will have to raise an awful volume of smoke to conceal the New York City governmental rottenness.

The Long Island railroad, which has been keeping tab on the matter for several months, says that sixty per cent of the articles found in its cars are left by women. Mighty good showing, we'll say, for the memories of the gentler sex. In a man's suit there are sixteen pockets in which to carry articles; in a woman's suit there are possibly two, three at the outside, and none of them big enough to carry more than what goes with the women folks for a handkerchief.

Two more arrests have been made in connection with plots against the life of Il Duce, both of them being members of a gang which is said to be headed by a naturalized American citizen who was placed under arrest early last month. Naturalized Americans who go back to their native lands to go bombing for officials of governments friendly to the United States can count little on their American citizenship to save them from the penalties of their crimes when convicted.

ANTICIPATION.



Editorial Opinion.

TAMMANY "STRATEGY."

Tammany's general staff will soon be writing military articles to rival those of General Pershing. Already it is announced that the authorities of the Hall are forming a "Board of Strategy" to make ready for the legislative investigation of the city government. One might humbly point out that "strategy" is not quite the correct word technically. When an army has seen all its plans for a campaign go wrong, as the Tammany forces have seen theirs, and has been suddenly overwhelmed by an unexpected attack by the enemy, as Tammany has been by the vote of the legislature, the only military resource left is the choice of "tactics." In fact, all that the Tammany leaders are now studying is the tactical way of meeting and, if possible, breaking up a hostile advance. It is proposed to throw up legal barricades in the streets of New York; to deny the power of the committee of the legislature to examine witnesses in secret; to challenge and resist all inquiries into the speculative activities and bank accounts of Tammany officeholders, on the ground that this would be an oppressive and unconstitutional invasion of private affairs. In short, the Tammany tactics, as now hinted at, will be to detail various detachments of the faithful to sacrifice their lives, if need be, in order to hold up the enemy at various points until the demoralized Tammany army can be rallied behind the lines and emboldened to make a stand.

The best advice which Tammany could have at this juncture from its ablest lawyers and shrewdest politicians would be to put all such notions and devices aside. Instead of consulting textbooks on the art of war, it should go to the political philosophers and the poets. Let each Tammany leader learn how to recite, before Judge Seabury begins his questioning:

"Whose armor is his honest thought
And simple truth his utmost skill"

In that sense the best Tammany strategist, or tactician, yet to be heard from is Commissioner Mulrooney of the police department, who announces that he will do everying within his power to help the legislative investigation. Contrast this with the previous attitude of Leader Curry, refusing to testify because he had been "insulted" by being asked to waive immunity. That was not strategy. It was nearer to a confession, or to political suicide, which, it is to be presumed, Webster would argue is the same thing as political confession.—New York Times, Democratic.

STEALING THEIR THUNDER?

The alarm reported to be felt in France, Italy, and Czecho-Slovakia over the proposed Austro-German customs union may be due to more than the fear of economic consequences. The leaders of these countries are possibly irritated by the possibility of Germany and Austria stealing their pan-European thunder. Statements given out in Vienna and Berlin describe the projected union as a first step in what its proponents hope will become a general European agreement with respect to tariffs.

This impressive program impinges on Aristide Briand's plan for an United States of Europe and it also reflects on the recent unsuccessful attempt of European governments to come to an agreement on the tariff question. Should the Austro-German scheme go through and eventually expand into an European customs arrangement, with all the political potentialities such a movement would contain, Austrian and German leadership would be entitled to much of the credit. A realization of that may have had something to do with the haste in which France, Italy and Czecho-Slovakia protected against Germany and Austria working together in closer fiscal harmony. —Detroit Free Press.

Disease Symptom as Warning.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Albuminuria, or albumin in the urine, is not really a disease. It is a symptom or sign of certain changes in the kidney.

Most insurance companies reject applicants presenting this picture. They insist upon repeated examinations until the urine has cleared up. Then they accept the applicant.

Much alarm and concern are experienced in the meantime. We immediately picture ourselves in the grip of some terrible disease and flounder about hopelessly. Stories of Bright's disease and other terrifying ailments come to our ears. We are almost sick from fear.

Well do I recall the story of a young man I had recommended for entrance at West Point. This boy was the very picture of perfect health. Not a symptom of any disease or incapacity had he ever experienced. He passed all his entrance examinations, with high honors.

However, when it came to the usual routine urine examination, a trace of ablumin was found. He was rejected on the grounds of physical unfitness. This boy suffered all the tortures of disease itself because of worry.

I do not mean to say that the presence of albumin in the urine is to be considered lightly and ignored. Albumin present in the urine constantly is, usually, though not always, indicative of some disease. This disease is usually located in the kidneys.

However, we frequently encounter cases where there is absolutely no evidence of any disease in the kidneys. Further repeated tests of the urine show the absence of albumin.

Again, we run across cases where the albumin appears in the urine at certain definite stated times. This type of trouble is described as "cyclic albuminuria." In certain individuals who maintained an upright position more or less constantly, the urine showed traces of albumin. It is of interest that when these individuals were put to bed, or the occupation was changed, the albumin disappeared. Some individuals who eat a high protein diet, particularly one consisting of many eggs, will invariably show presence of albumin in the urine. With change in diet, the albumin disappears.

It is a condition frequently seen in prospective mothers and is then indicative of changes in the kidney. It is for this reason that the obstetrician insists upon so many examinations.

Albumin frequently appears during certain infectious diseases. This is the case in pneumonia and tonsilitis.

What I would like to impress upon you is that albumin does not mean kidney disease in every instance. However, it does warrant a complete physical examination by the doctor. He must check on your heart, kidneys, lungs and general circulation. If these are all found to be satisfactory we need not worry about the presence of albumin.

There are many individuals who have albumin in their urine all their lives. These people have lived to a good old age without any trace at any time of kidney disease or associated bodily defects.

I am telling you these things to reassure you. But please do not be too complacent about it. Be sure to see your doctor and let him examine you thoroughly to make sure all is as it should be.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES.

E. S. Q—What do you advise for hernia in a man of sixty-two years of age? I have been wearing a truss without much benefit.

A—Operation is the only radical cure for this condition. See a surgeon and follow his advice and judgment with regard to your particular case.

M. M. Q—What is the cause of poly-neuritis (ginger-paralysis) and what treatment is necessary?

A—Other than the fact that the trouble in question is thought to be due to drinking a chemically contaminated beverage, little is known about the disturbance in question. Each patient demands specific medical attention and advice.

* * *

JAY. Q—What causes puffiness under the eyes?

2—How many hours sleep does a girl of sixteen require?

A—This may be due to a kidney or heart condition, also dissipation.

2—She should average about eight hours

Replacing Einstein Theory.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Although opponents of Einstein's theories make themselves mildly vocal from time to time, in the fruitless effort to pick flaws in the impeccable mathematical structure of relativity, no serious attempt to subvert and overthrow this structure has been made until very recently. Now Professor James MacKaye, of Dartmouth college, has put forward an alternative theory, which he has sketched in outline in a fascinating work entitled, "The Dynamic Universe." It will probably be years before all the features of the new theory are clearly outlined, and their implications developed in mathematical and physical equations.

It has long been recognized that relativity is a mathematical, even more than a physical, theory. Many scientists have protested against the intricate mathematics involved in relativity, and in general against the geometrisation of physics. Einstein bases his general relativity theory upon the idea of space structure. These structures may vary in proportion to the strength of the electro-magnetic fields set up by hot masses of radiating matter. At a great distance from such influences, the space structure approximates to the simplest type, the familiar Euclidean structure. The nearer we approach to a large mass of radiating matter, the greater variation from the Euclidean model is found.

Moreover, the structure is not merely that of space alone. Time enters as a variable, with a character similar to that of a dimension of spatial character. The space structure varies from instant to instant, perhaps, while retaining its general character. This is what is meant by the strange amalgam, never yet adequately elucidated, known as space-time. The assumptions made by Einstein imply the functionality of time with space coordinates. Different coordinate systems implying different motions, involve different time measures. All those weird complications of which the Einstein theory is full are inescapable consequences of the basic assumption. Space-time is a four-dimensional curved space form; and this is inherent in Einstein's initial assumption. Similar statements may be made regarding other fundamental entities: mass, energy, acceleratation and the like. The consequences of Einstein's theory can not be avoided. The equations are mathematically correct, the agreement with experiment is satisfactory. Consequently, there seems to be but one alternative —to accept the equations, but to interpret them in a different way. MacKaye is not alone in considering the theory of relativity an amazingly ingenious bit of mathematical sleight-of-hand, the last resort of a dexterous juggler of complicated formulas.

MacKaye sets out to replace Einstein's essentially mathematical and geometrical theory by a basically physically theory. The foundation of the new theory is radiation, a force as universal and as pervasive in the universe as gravitation. Perhaps gravitation is merely one of the large scale phenomena of radiation. Matter and ether are restored to a fundamental place in the cosmos, in this new theory. They are supposed to exist, as it were, in a sea of radiation. Radiation pressure is the dominant force, the prime motor, in MacKaye's universe; and to this influence the change of motion of matter is subject and subservient.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

S. S. Cox and Alexander H. Stephens.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

S. S. Cox, when he went to congress in 1857 to represent the Capital City district of Ohio, attracted the attention of Alexander H. Stephens at once, and a close friendship began which ended only with death. Stephens was already a noted man in congress and had been in congress for fifteen years. In fact, he was a national figure. He had been a Whig in his younger days, but veered over into the Democratic party when the Republican party was formed and assumed the character of an anti-slavery organization.

Twice when in trouble and the outlook was dark for him, Stephens sent for Cox. Stephens never married and lacked the sustaining influence of family relations in misfortune. Never physically strong, he was subject all his life to periods of illness. The close of the Civil war found him a war prisoner confined in Fort Warren in Boston harbor—the same prison to which Vallandingham had been sentenced by the court-martial that tried him; but Lincoln commuted to transportation within the confederate lines. Cox at that time was a resident of New York and Stephens wished to consult with him about reinstatement after the war.

The next time was when Stephens was back in congress. On his election to the senate at that time, he was refused the seat, but later when elected to the lower house, objection was not made. He was ill at his hotel—so ill that he felt that he had but a few days to live. After greeting his caller, Stephens complimented Cox upon his eulogy upon Speaker M. C. Kerr and added: "I have one request to make of you —that is that you pronounce my eulogy." "And I have one to make of you," replied Cox, "it is that you pronounce mine; you will outlive me." Stephens turned to the daughter of J. J. Chittenden who was ministering to him and said: "He will have his little joke." Stephens did recover, but he did not outlive Cox. He died in 1883, aged seventy-one, while Cox died in 1889, living only to the age of sixty-five.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, March 28—I wish people from back yonder who come to New York would quit expecting me to show them the town. Somehow they have an idea I know the place inside and out, call cops by first name, am the special pet of night club hostesses and greet George M. Cohan with "Hello Georgie!"

There is just enough show-off in me to try to live up to the picture. Among outlanders I affect the languor of boredom—the jaded boulevardier, the blase man-about-town. I also give them the impression they are in the thick of things. Any minute something portentious may happen.

That gentleman with the lapel flower and silver-headed stick may be Flash Harry, the Park avenue society crook. The slinky lady in black who steps from the robin's egg blue limousine might be the famous poisoner of the Wall Street millionaire. And so on, goodness me.

If any one telephones while back home visitors are at my house I wait until finished, slyly press the receiver and say: "All right, put Moscow on." Then I talk to Russia a minute or so. That is always good for an item in the small town weekly.

When we leave the apartment house, I say casually to the starter: "If Otto Kahn calls for me, tell him I'll be at the club later." You can see their eyes bulge. These glamorous deceptions have given the folks at the forks of the creek the idea I am quite a card.

They rather imagine I arise and play before breakfast handball with Gatti-Casazza and one of the Philadelphia Biddles, breakfast with Theodore Dreiser, canter in the park with Noel Coward and lunch at the Colony with Katherine Cornell and Lynne Fontanne.

But one can not forever live a lie. And how I know! Two of my boyhood friends who dropped in unexpectedly yesterday know it. In trying to prove to them what "a Boswell of modern Bagdad"—see syndicate newspaper ads.—I didn't even get to first base.

But I heard of one in a private house in the east Fifties. So we taxied there.

It was a push-the-button-and-ask-for-Emil place. When the crack in the chained door revealed a face I jittered brightly and ungrammatically: "It's just me and two friends." Some one else came to the door, peeked and there was a whispered conference. "When were you here before?" they asked. To make a painful story short, there were a lot more questions, winding up by slamming the door in our faces, thereby making a swell sap of me the no goods.

Berlin's Night Life.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

Although some of the color of its pre-w days has gone out of Berlin's night-life, s ficient flash and shimmer remain to dazzle eyes of even the more blase night-club visito

Even with the picturesquely-clad offic gone, Berlin's cabarets have a verve and vitality that is somehow lacking in the g places of Paris' Montmartre and New Yor one and only Broadway.

The night clubs of the German capital ha been designed on the grand scale. No squeez together tables and tiny dance-floors for B lin's pleasure seekers, most of whom wish whirl about without fear of colliding with ot merry-makers.

Some of the clubs go in for modernistic de rations. A few are as resplendent as the n Chrysler building, in New York City, bla and silver trimmings glistening under lo thin electric-light tubes.

One cabaret, the Resi by name, has outfit each table with a telephone and letter-b This, in case, you see a young lady with wh you wish to dance or converse. You scrib a note—paper and pencil lie on each tabl shoot it into a pneumatic tube—also found each table. This goes to the "post offic where the note is read by an official cens If it passes his inspection it is sent on to girl's table through another pneumatic tube

The phones are dial telephones. You the table at which the girl is sitting. A ligh number stands above each table. You ask to dance or for permission to join her at table. Thus, sometimes, begins a romance

Most of the night clubs have bars and a with this American importation they h adopted the good old Broadway habit of ing" checks. If you have four drinks, you likely to be charged for six.

However, this does not apply to the be bars, such as the one found in the H Adlon. This is a magnificent place and j famed as one of the most popular bars i the world.

Most of the clubs have cabaret shows course. After listening for a while t singing and dancing of some of the perform you begin to realize that there may be cause for the low salaries paid to acto the continent. The clubs, themselves, and guests are usually more interesting than entertainment presented.

ERIE TO MOVE HEADQUARTERS

General Offices To Be Transferred from New York City to Cleveland.

Executive offices of the Erie railroad will be moved to Cleveland from New York some time this [illegible] the Erie board of directors decided in New York yesterday.

The Midland bank building and [illegible] of the terminal group in Cleveland will house the new railroad offices including those of Charles E. Denny, president of the road, R. [illegible] Woodruff, a former Marion resident now vice president in charge of operation, and John M. [illegible], a former Marion resident, now assistant vice president. The two former Marion men are second and third ranking officers [illegible].

[illegible] the transfer of executive offices will place the local division with headquarters in Marion nearer the home offices the change will have little or no effect on the operation of the local division, local Erie officials said today.

The move will transfer between [illegible] and 1,000 employes of the road, including executives, from New York to Cleveland, although branch offices will be maintained in New York.

Action of the directors is regarded in financial and transportation circles as both a move to [illegible] the headquarters of the road nearer the center of its activities and to further centralize Van Sweringen interests in Cleveland. The latter move was viewed as a further centralization of Van Sweringen control over the roads which they will consolidate if the four-system grouping of eastern railroads is approved by the U. S. interstate commerce commission.

REPUBLICANS PLAN COUNTY GATHERING

Discuss Coming Campaign in Meeting at Bucyrus; Commend Officials.

Special to The Star.

BUCYRUS, March 28—A resolution commending the late Sheriff George Davenport for his splendid service and for the sacrifice of his life in the service of the public and also commending Deputy Sheriff Arthur Stuckert for the way in which he has conducted himself since the death of the sheriff, was adopted by the Republican executive committee who met in a called session at the chamber of commerce headquarters Friday night. The members expressed regret that conditions in the county were such, after the service which had been given by Stuckert, that developments should arise which should cause him to tender his resignation.

Plans for a general Republican county dinner meeting to be held next month were discussed and April 23 was set as the tentative date. Plans for the program to include several outside speakers were also discussed.

It was decided to send letters to both James T. Begg, endorsing him as a candidate for United States senator and to Secretary of State Clarence Brown, endorsing him as a candidate for governor at the 1932 election.

America and Russia Charged with Necessitating European Economic Unity.

By The Associated Press

BERLIN, March 28—Larger national economic units, particularly the United States and Soviet Russia, were pictured today in reports of an address of Dr. Karl Renner, former Austrian chancellor, as having made the projected economic union of Austria and Germany necessary.

Dr. Renner, speaking before the Austro-German people's union, said the economic duty of the United States had long challenged the existence of disunited tariff ridden Europe, while recently Soviet Russia had risen as a new great rationalized and unified trade force.

ARGUE MOTIONS FOR NEW TRIAL

Bucyrus Judge Hears Testimony in Ralls Case.

Special to The Star.

BUCYRUS, March 28—Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl is expected to make his ruling on the motions for a new trial for Walter and Blanton Ralls, convicted slayers of Sheriff George Davenport, early next week following hearing of arguments in the two cases by attorneys Friday afternoon, when the judge took them under consideration.

Attorney Kreiter on one affidavit claimed that a statement supposed to have been made by former deputy sheriff Arthur Stuckert was to the effect that one of the jurors on the case would hold out "for first degree murder without mercy." Stuckert denied the statement on the witness stand and his testimony was born out by deputies John A. Smith special deputy, Sheriff C. F. Vollmer former deputy Otto Staiger and former deputy jailer D. J. Robertson.

Objections to the seating of the jurors and other arguments were presented in the hearing.

37 TRAFFIC TICKETS ISSUED DURING WEEK

Nineteen Persons Fined at Regular Meeting of Court; 16 Excused.

Stricter observance of Marion traffic regulations among motorists was urged at city police station this morning, after a busy session of traffic court yesterday. Police issued 37 traffic summons during the week, placing particular emphasis on provisions of the traffic code providing for "stop" streets, and prohibiting alley parking.

Nineteen of the 37 were fined by Judge William R. Martin, including many who failed to show up for the court session. Sixteen others were excused and two were placed under suspended fines.

Tickets issued this week included 10 for alley parking, seven for failing to obey "stop street" signals, seven for parking in "no parking" zones, four for double parking, three for parking in bus stops, three for driving at night with bright lights, two for parking in front of hotel entrances, and one for parking too near a fire hydrant.

KARACHI, India, March 28—"The day that my inner voice tells me my country no longer needs me I will starve myself to death," Gandhi told a deputation of hostile red shirt Communists who called upon him to demand why he had not saved Baghat Singh, executed at Lahor for the murder of a British police official in 1929.

"I shall not complain if you beat me. I have no bodyguard," he said. "God alone keeps vigil over me. Some think me crazy, some a fool because of my love for my enemies, but it is the very foundation of my whole life's work and creed.

Before Gandhi had finished his antagonists were sobbing. All left in an humble, penitent mood.

ENGLISH NOVELIST IS VICTIM OF TYPHOID

Arnold Bennett, One of Leading Literary Men, Succumbs in London.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, March 28—Typhoid fever has written a "finis" to the life of Arnold Bennett, one of the world's leading men of letters, whose work, acclaimed by the scholarly, did not disdain the common touch.

The end had been foreseen since Wednesday. Stricken with influenza seven weeks ago he was thought to be recovering when typhoid fever brought him down again. A blood transfusion yesterday gave him temporary relief, but he weakened and early last night passed away peacefully. He was 63 years old.

CAPITAL CONSIDERS POSSIBLE TAX BOOST

Legislators Discuss Means of Meeting Prospective 700 Million Deficit.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, March 28—Whether the government will go deeper into the pockets of its citizens to meet increasing expenditures and a prospective $700,000,000 deficit was the subject today of discussions in the capital.

Legislators and organizations alike took part in the talks, but it was considered unlikely either major party would push a proposed tax increase at the next session of congress because of the nearness of the presidential election

While these discussions were under way, the treasury proposed to issue on Monday $100,000,000 in 90-day bills to help counter-balance the deficit and pay veterans loans.

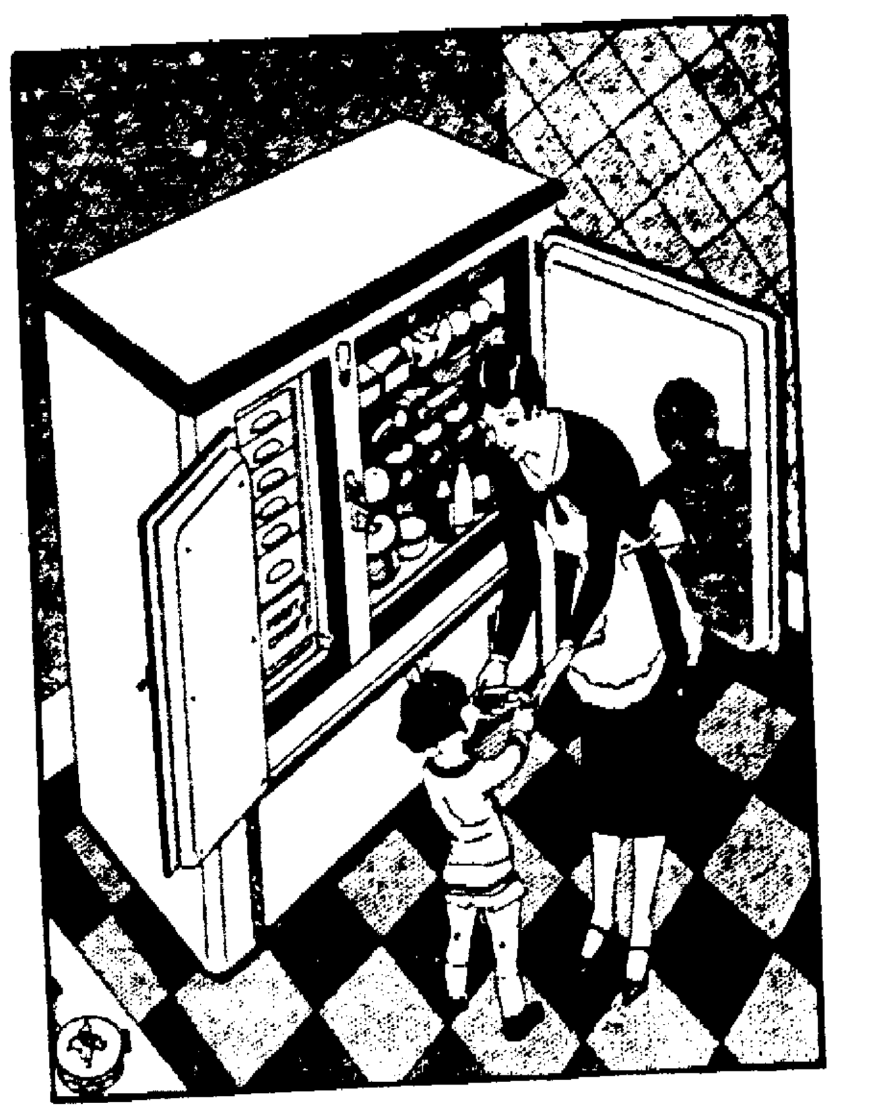
Blake's Floral House Turns Attention to Easter as



Electric Refrigeration Is —

INEXPENSIVE—it will run for nine hours for the price of a cake of yeast—and it effects great savings in food waste.

SAFE—by maintaining a constant temperature of 40-50 degrees Fahrenheit, AUTOMATICALLY, electric refrigeration eliminates all dangers arising from spoiled or contaminated foods.

CONVENIENT—no bother—electric refrigeration gives a constant cold with plenty of ice cubes the year around.

VIEW OF FLOWER DISPLAY WINDOW

THIRD GENERATION OF FAMILY NOW HEADS LOCAL BUSINESS

Easter April 5—Blake's greenhouses are filled with many kinds of plants that will find places in homes celebrating this holiday.

A trip through these greenhouses, located northwest of Marion, proves very interesting. Here are thousands of budding plants that will be in full bloom for Easter.

In one of the first houses are hundreds of potted hyacinths which are in great demand this year. Their fragrance and variety of colors consisting of white, purple, pink, make them one of the season's most popular plants.

Tulips in Bud

In other houses are the stately Easter lilies and tulips that are now in bud. These too will be ready for Easter sales. One can't help but admire these fine healthy plants for their deep colors and perfect buds. Hundreds of other plants including many popular cut flowers—sweet peas, snapdragons, roses, tulips, hyacinths, lilies, forget-me-nots and carnations are under the expert attention of men who know just what care such flowers require.

The business of Blake's flower shop is now under the management of Francis Blake of the third generation of Blakes to operate this large floral plant.

The sales and show room of Blake's is located at 196 West Center street. The large floor space in this room makes possible the displaying of flowers in such a manner that it is easy to appreciate the full beauty of any plant one wishes to purchase.

The illustration above is of the window of their show room, displaying a variety of beautiful Easter flowers.

Veteran Employe

In the employ of Mr. Blake at his greenhouse are nine persons who are growing thousands of flowers for Marion and vicinity every year. Mr. Baughman, the foreman at the greenhouse has been with the firm for 38 years. Besides superintending the growing he is the head designer of pillows, wreaths and lodge emblems for funerals. Mr. Blake says the work of this man of growing and designing flowers cannot be surpassed.

At the store Mr. Blake has in his employ four persons who handle the sales, making up of baskets, funeral sprays and corsages. They have been with the firm a number of years and are very competent in their work.

Mr. Blake is sincere in his belief that flowers help to make the home. He claims that every year more people are regularly purchasing flowers to blend with the color scheme of a particular room in their home. Today the setting for a party or club isn't complete unless you have flowers to add a cozy cheerfulness to the room.

Blakes are prepared for quick delivery of orders to Marion and vicinity. Two trucks are kept busy making these deliveries. Just phone their salesroom when you wish to order flowers for any occasion and your order will be promptly delivered They also telegraph flowers anywhere. This service makes it easy for you to send Easter floral greetings to friends and relatives in distant cities and to foreign countries. The extra cost of this service being the price of the telegram or cablegram

Ready To Aid

Blakes are always ready to aid you in the selection of proper flowers to send to a friend that is ill, to a wedding or any occasion that flowers may be used. Funeral sprays and wreaths are also a specialty.

With the coming of Easter and spring, thoughts are also turned to gardening. To obtain the best results in your garden you must be sure that the seeds you plant are of the highest quality. At Blake's salesroom you may purchase garden seeds in bulk. These seeds have been tested at their greenhouse before being placed on sale and are guaranteed to produce the very best of vegetables and flowers.

Mr. Blake says the prices on flowers this Easter are lower than in previous years. Although the price is down the plants being sold are of the same high quality that has always been maintained by this firm.

LIVINGROOM BEST, HOUSEWIVES AVER

Rest of House Should Compliment This Room, Crouso Says.

All home managers are vitally interested in making their homes as attractive as possible. There is no room in the house quite so close to a woman's heart as her living room. Modern style designs with straight band decorations are the very newest thing in wall coverings, W. N. Crouso, decorator, 125½ South Main street, says.

The living room generally serves a variety of purposes, being reception room, drawing room, and sitting room all in one, and its furnishings are often widely assorted pieces. Consequently, it would be folly to lay down rules by which you could select wall paper for a living room, but there is one axiom which is safe to follow, and that is let your personal taste dominate the choice.

The average eye recognizes good harmony and since good taste has been a factor in selecting the furnishings, it should dictate wall paper selections also. Let the other rooms downstairs harmonize with, and compliment the living room, Crouso adds.

For a true woman, her home is ever a reflection of her grace and charm and personality. Walls reflect your charm and personality of the housewife. "Let your home be worthy of you," is Mr. Crouso's message to housewives.

FIRM INSURES ALL ITS WORK

Local Concern Headed by Men with Long Experience in Line.

The Superior Roofing Co., located at 150 North State street, is the only firm of its kind doing an exclusive roofing business in Marion. It not only supplies the necessary roofing for your home, but its experts apply the roofing as well. A. L. Kessler, its owner, having spent 25 years in the roofing business, knows his business in all its phases from the manufacturing of roofing materials to the way it should be applied.

Previous to coming to Marion a little over two years ago, Kessler was located in Fostoria, where he had been in business for seven years. During this time, however, he worked Marion as a branch territory and became convinced that Marion had a great need for the particular line of business he was in—roofing.

Insure Their Roofs

When the Superior Roofing Co. sells a roof it issues an insurance policy. This policy insures the roof for five years against any defect in application or material, and also against the elements, such as fire, water, wind and tornado. Kessler claims that the roof which he applies should last not merely the five years while insured, but should last as long as 35 years, or for the full period of the life of an average home.

The Superior Roofing Co. can supply any asphalt roofing material desired. All this roofing comes in natural fast slate colors, such as buff from Georgia, red from Pennsylvania, green from Vermont, etc. The asphalt itself comes to a great extent from Trinidad lake where large deposits are found.

An asphalt roof may be applied to almost any roof right over the shingles or whatever is now in use assuring the home owner little, if any, inconvenience during the process of application. Asphalt roofing properly applied makes a smooth, neat looking roof.

The Superior Roofing Co. is a member of the National Roofing association. Only one company in any city can become a member of this large organization. In order to belong to this group the following 10 requirements must be met:

1. Experience in applying roofs.
2. Highest class workmanship.
3. Highest quality materials.
4. A record of responsibility.
5. Fair dealing.
6. Financial stability.
7. Honest guarantees.
8. Prompt and efficient service.
9. Reasonable prices.
10. Integrity.

Only a firm meeting these requirements may sell insured roofs

When you buy a roof from the Superior Roofing Co. you don't have to take their word for the value of the roof. Take that of an insurance company who back's Mr. Kessler's roofs with their assets. If the insurance company were not certain of the quality of Superior roofs and the superior workmanship applying these roofs, they certainly would not insure them.

The appearance of your roof should be a matter of personal pride, as the outside of a home reflects the character of its occupant. The Superior Roofing Co. offers terms or cash and you may be assured that you will have a good roof when this company completes your job.

LOCAL MOVING FIRM IS INCORPORATED

G. A. Wright Head of Company Formerly Known as Paddock's.

The incorporation of the Wright Transfer & Storage Co. has just been announced. This concern is a continuation of the Paddock Transfer & Storage Co. which has been in business in Marion since 1889. G. A. Wright is president and treasurer of the new company and C. W. Wright, vice president and secretary. The company will also act as agent for the Allied Van Lines, Inc., an organization of the leading warehouse companies of the United States. All cargoes are insured and each vehicle carries liability insurance.

Each moving van of the Wright Transfer & Storage Co. carries complete padding equipment, practically $500 worth of padding being provided for each of their trucks. In addition to the statewide moving service, the Wright Transfer & Storage Co. provides a safe storage for household goods and merchandise in Marion. They have also developed a guaranteed moth proofing service for overstuffed furniture, rugs, furs and clothing. Complete equipment is available for careful crating and packing of merchandise for long distance shipment.

A complete piano display room completes the local warehouse. All the latest models in grand, upright and player pianos are included, as well as a complete line of musical instruments and accessories.

Illinois had completed or had under construction 145 railroad grade separation projects on Jan. 1. The cost will be nearly $7,000,000.

Home Best Place to Invest Limited Savings

The average family with a limited amount of savings can best keep such money safe through investment in a home, according to James A. Devine, executive secretary of the Ohio Building Association league.

A study conducted by building and loan leaders in Ohio relative to the fortunes of investment funds of the average family disclosed the comforting fact that the average family acquiring a home on the installment plan lost little or nothing during the past year through speculative investments. The building and loan investigators found that such families applied their extra funds on their home loans, thereby escaping losses suffered by those who invested in speculative ventures.

Coming close upon the heels of the building and loan announcement in favor of the home owner is the annual report of the distribution of invested assets of the life insurance companies of the United States for 1930. This report shows that insurance companies, the largest holders of investment capital in the world, invested twice as much money in real estate mortgages during 1930 than in any other form of security. The report is significant, from the standpoint of the property owner in that insurance companies invested nearly 30 times as much money in real estate mortgages as they did in United States bonds.

According to Devine, it is a safe estimate that never in the history of Ohio has there been accumulated exclusively for home investment, a sum of money so large in proportion to the population as is the condition today. At the present time approximately 91 per cent of the $1,300,000,000 in building and loan companies is continually engaged in first mortgage financing.

SUNROOMS IMPROVE MANY OLD HOUSES

Solariums Can Be Made Useful, Attractive and Beneficial to Health.

Many old houses need an addition not only to make more room but to change their appearance, giving them the low, rambling look so universally admired, and to add variety and interest to an otherwise commonplace dwelling. The old colonial householders had no compunction about hitching addition on to addition in a most informal manner, as their families or their prosperity increased, and the effect they achieved was not inartistic and untidy, but charming. Many architects are now designing new houses that deliberately copy what formerly was accidentally achieved.

Usually it is desirable that the additions take the shape of sunrooms because one great need of modern hygienic living is more sunshine than it is possible to obtain in the old-fashioned houses
